Timing of Repairs To Washington Road Subject of Dispute

"Washington Road will be a big dispute," said Council President Marvin Reed. The first volley erupted at last Thursday's Borough Council meeting, when Borough merchant Ray Wadsworth insisted that the road be repaired this summer.

"They can't mess up the town any more than it is," said Mr. Wadsworth. "They'll have a hell of a fight if they leave it till next year. The price would be higher."

The reconstruction would take place on the Borough portion of Washington Road, which runs from Nassau Street to just below Ivy Lane.

Mr. Reed appeared to echo the position taken in the fall of 1987 by Mayor Sigmund that Washington Road should not be closed for repair until the Harrison Street Bridge was opened. "I don't know how much more we can inconvenience the rest of the town," he said.

The lowest bid received for the job — $751,000 — allows milling Washington Road at night, a step advocated by Mr. Wadsworth and others. Certain work, however, cannot be done at night because it requires deliveries from suppliers. The road — one of only two remaining arteries into Princeton from Route 1 — would still be closed for two days, and would be reduced to a single lane for one week.

"It's best to do the work now, in the summer, since our strongest season is fall," said Mitchell Forest, president of Borough Merchants for Princeton. Irv Urken, of Urken's, however, cautioned that "three months isn't a lot of time to do the work that has to be done."

Mr. Reed, citing past experience in contracts, said he is doubtful that the reconstruction of Washington Road

Talk of the Township: Digging, Delays and Dirt

The construction season is in full swing in the Township as it is in the Borough. Sidewalks aren't the issue but the digging, the delays, the dirt and the machinery stacked by the roadside all have a single root cause: infrastructure improvements.

Repairing water, sewer and gas lines means opening the streets in which the utility lines were originally laid, or in some cases the part of the road where these lines cross. This in turn means single lane traffic on some of the major roads into and out of town — roads which are already carrying

Martindell, Terpstra Capture Democratic Primary, Wadsworth Is Write-in Victor on Republican Side

This was the year of the write-in in both Princetons. Although losing by a whisker in the Borough Council Democratic primary race to Jane Terpstra and Roger Martindell, Ray Wadsworth received some 34 write-in votes on the Republican slate.

The Republicans had fielded only one candidate for the two openings on Council, David Jackson, who ran unsuccessfully last November. Reached Election Night, Mr. Wadsworth said that he will change his party affiliation from Democrat to Republican and accept the write-in nomination. Mr. Wadsworth and Mr. Jackson will thus face

"We lost the first round, but we'll come back fighting," he commented Tuesday night.

In the Township, former long-time Republican Borough Council member Richard Woodbridge, who moved to the Township several years ago, received 263 write-in votes for Township Committee. If he accepts the nomination, he would join Michael Tomalin on the ballot in November. The two Repub-

Lawrence Planning Board Grants Approval To 880-Unit Yorkshire Village Development

The Lawrence Planning Board has approved the 880-unit Yorkshire Village development for a 160-acre site between the Mercer Mall and the Delaware and Raritan Canal.

The project is the largest in Lawrence's history and has been before the Planning Board in workshop sessions and public hearings for almost three years. The final vote was unanimous, although a preliminary vote on the issue of whether or not to grant a height variance to allow five story "midrise" apartment buildings carried Martin Olech's negative vote.

"I'm sure we'll be roundly criticized by our fellow citizens and others," Chairman Douglas Megill said, "but the site plan conforms to our land use ordinance in all respects except the height limitation, which we have just granted, and therefore we have no choice but to approve it." He thanked the developer for his "patience and endurance."

Planning Board member William Agress said he wished the land could remain a farm forever. "But we didn't zone it as a farm," Mr. Agress said. He pointed out that the developer, a partnership calling itself Lawrence Associates, was the first to reduce the number of units on the tract. The project started out as a proposal for 1,266 units, then 966 units, and finally 880 units.

"It may not be a Utopian plan, but it certainly is much, much better than it was originally," Mr. Agress said. "It is workable and the developer would be completed by September — the merchants' busy season and the time the University students return "No matter how we write the contracts,' they take longer," he said.

He also expressed concern about the road reconstruction scheduled this summer for Prospect Avenue, from Washington Road to Harrison Street. "We should not close Prospect Avenue until all of Wiggins/Hamilton is completed," he said

Borough Engineer Carl Peters expects that road reconstruction will be completed from Witherspoon to Chestnut by mid-August, leaving Hamilton from Chestnut to North Harrison still closed for repair.

The Washington Road reconstruction project is scheduled to be discussed again at the June 20 Cnuncil meeting.

New Director Is Named For Teacher Preparation

Marue Walizer has been appointed director of the Princeton University Program in Teacher Preparation, effective September 1.

Ms. Walizer is currently a member of the faculty at Wilton (Conn.) High School, where she directs the independent study program and the program for gifted students, both of which she created. She has taught in public secondary schools in New Jersey and Connecticut and on the undergraduate and graduate levels at Harvard University, where she also served as senior adviser (assistant dean) in the freshman dean's office. A magna cum laude graduate of the College of New Rochelle, Ms. Walizer earned an M.A. in English from Rutgers University and an Ed.D. from the Harvard Graduate School of Education.

Parents 'Survival Guide' Available from State

"Survival Guide for Parents," a 20-page, full-color illustrated booklet on positive parenting, is available free from the New Jersey Governor's Task Force on Child Abuse and Neglect.

The booklet provides a guideline on the types of behavior to expect from children as they mature; information on choosing a child care center; and guidelines on discipline, building teen self-esteem and coping with stress. A list of resource numbers is also included.

The booklet may be obtained free by calling 1-800-THE-KIDS, a toll-free number established by the task force. Individuals may also call the number anonymously for information on the prevention of child abuse and neglect, or to discuss parental stress.

Peace Corps Open House Planned Here on June 21

Representatives of the United States Peace Corps' Philadelphia office will hold an International Job Opportunities Open House on Wednesday, June 21, from 7 to 9 p.m. in the Princeton Y W.C.A.'s all-purpose room.

Five former Peace Corps volunteers living in the Princeton community will discuss their volunteer experiences, and recruiters from the Philadelphia Peace Corps office will answer questions about the application and selection process. Applications will be available.

Many unique opportunities for international experience are available to persons with four-year college degrees, or who have five or more years experience in a field not requiring a degree.

PIERS ARE IN: The concrete piers for the new Carter Road bridge are in, as workmen attempt to meet scheduled December 1 opening.

Hearings Have Begun Before Planning Board On Calton Homes White Farm Development

The Planning Board's public hearings on the Calton Homes application for its Washington Oaks development began last week with a long list of issues that the board will want to consider before it grants approval.

The hearing will be continued this Thursday, starting at around 8 p.m. The board meets at 7:30 but has scheduled several business matters ahead of the Calton hearing. Also on the agenda is a request by Sanford Nalitt Associates to be allowed to begin site work on Ettl Farms even before it has received all approvals from various State agencies.

Calton seeks site plan approval to create 300 dwelling units on the 122.4 acre tract known as the White Farm. Thirty-five single family homes are proposed, 96 luxury townhouses, 61 "villa" townhouses, and 108 apartment units. Sixty of the 108 apartment units will count toward the Township fair share Mt. Laurel requirement.

A 23.5-acre lot to create the White Farm Reserve is also proposed, and in accordance with the settlement agreement that ended the Mt. Laurel litigation brought by Calton Homes against the Township and Planning Board this property will be restricted from further development. The 19-acre historic "overlook" area and the flood plain along Stony Brook are proposed to be dedicated to the Township.

Traffic Circulation. Topping the list is whether the main road through the development should remain a through street providing a connection between Princeton Pike and Route 206, or whether it should be prevented from doing so by cul-de-sacs. Professional Planner Duggan Kimball pointed out that a through road will allow residents of the development to exit the development with a right turn on Princeton Pike if they are headed south and a right turn on Route 206 if they want to go to into Princeton.

TOPICS Of the Town

Fearing the traffic that a cut-through would draw, neighbors have asked that the concept be reconsidered. The draft master plan specifically discourages cul-de-sacs and instead encourages roads that make connections — a new policy on the part of the Planning Board.

Another issue is the road widths and whether the roads will be owned by the Township or the homeowner's association. The main road is shown conforming to the Township standard and for public ownership, but the roads leading into the townhouse and multiplex areas are proposed as private drives.

The Planning Board has found that a mix of ownership within a development can create resentment between those residents who receive municipal services such as garbage pick-up and leaf removal and others who pay the same taxes but do not receive these services because they are not on municipally-owned streets.

Different Design. The Planning Board will have to decide whether to accept Calton's site plan redesign of the area around the apartment complex. The original plan showed the six apartment buildings located around a large central common formed by the roadway serving the area. The Mt. Laurel buildings were interspersed with the market rate buildings.

Calton planners have changed the configuration of the road, claiming safer and better access to the buildings at the end of the one-way loop. They have sited the market buildings together along the open space by Stony Brook, while the Mt. Laurel buildings are grouped uphill next to the villa townhouse area. The siting allows the developer to take advantage of the slope to create basement access to some of the market-rate buildings, a feature that none of the Mt. Laurel buildings would have.

The Mt. Laurel units will range in size from 460 square feet for an efficiency, to 945 square feet for the largest three-bedroom unit. Fifty-three of the Mt Laurel units will have two bedrooms and consist of 705 square feet These sizes are apparently in accord with the Township's affordable housing ordinance

By contrast, the two-bedroom townhouse units at Griggs Farm are 1,120 square feet, and the three bedroom units are 1,280 square feet. The Housing Board has raised questions about the size of the affordable units in the Washington Oaks development. This board has also expressed concern about the difference in design between the market and Mt Laurel apartment buildings, pointing out that in their view the affordable units should not stand out as different from market units.

Variances Sought. Calton is seeking front yard and side yard setback variances for many of the townhouse buildings. Professional Planner Duggan Kimhall pointed out that the extent of the variances depends on where the measurement begins, from a theoretical 40-foot road right-of-way, or from the edge of the 24-foot-wide pavement.

The issue is whether spaciousness is wanted in front of the townhouses as viewed from the street, or in back, where the private or semiprivate backyards are located. Requiring the townhouses to be set back further will reduce the backyards, Mr. Kimball said.

The list of issues incorporates the suggestions made by the Site Plan Review Advisory Board and the Historic Preservation Commission which asked for a host of changes in the configuration and design of the buildings. In his opening remarks Mr. Kimball said that the concept plan created by Planning Board consultants Wallace Roberts & Todd as part of the settlement agreement was crafted in such a way as to meet a number of community goals and concerns, with the historic concerns paramount.

He warned that if there were substantial changes, or if a substantial wetlands buffer were to be imposed in line with state wetlands legislation that will go into effect July 1, the historic concerns would be affected.

Traffic Impacts. Calton's traffic consultant Henry Ney spoke of "failure conditions" at the intersection of Province Line Road and Princeton Pike and increasing delays at Quaker Bridge Road and Princeton Pike and Quaker Bridge Road and Route 206. "This will happen even if this development is not approved," Mr. Ney said.

He recommended widening of Princeton Pike at the entrance to the Washington Oaks development, and widening of southbound Route 206 to provide a left turn into the development. This would provide "adequate levels of service" at these points, but there still would be constraints against making a left turn out of the development against traffic at either Princeton Pike or Route 206, he said.

The situation would not be bad enough to justify a traffic signal at the exit/entrances, he said, but "I can suggest multiple lanes at the entrance/exit." Mr. Ney also strongly recommended keeping the main road through the development a through road to mitigate the negative impacts of the development.

There was little opportunity for public comment at last week's hearing, but the public is expected to have its say at this Thursday's hearing, or at a third hearing scheduled for Thursday, June 15.

Jugtown Celebrates 50th At Hook & Ladder Co.

The Jugtown Boys and Community Clubs will celebrate its 50th Anniversary on Saturday from 2 to 9 p.m. at the Hook and Ladder Fire House on North Harrison Street.

Jugtown is an old Princeton neighborhood that straddles Nassau Street in an area roughly between Princeton Avenue and Snowden Lane. At one point, pottery was made in the area — hence the name Jugtown.

There will be food, soda and beer and the fee is $5 per person. Those planning to attend are urged to bring old photos, trophies and mementos.

Jack O'Neill, assistant supervisor for parking operations for the Borough and a member of the committee planning the event, recalls that the Jugtown Boys Club was for young kids and the Community Club for parents.

"They had baseball and basketball teams for the kids. It was during wartime and there was no TV then. It kept us out of trouble. 'Course, then, we didn't have any drug problems, either.

"It's been 50 years...most of us are grandfathers now. I was one of the young ones and I'm 56 now. Some haven't seen each other for forty years."

Other members of the committee include Jerry Silvester, Lloyds Stout, Eugene Freda and Jess Clayton. Mr. O'Neill replied that more than 100 have responded by mail and they will post the letters of those who can't come.

Those who lived in the area at one time or who are still residents who want further information should call Mr. Silvester at 799-0444.

Six Charges Are Made Against Speeder Here

A 19-year-old Princeton driver who led Township and Lawrence Township police on a high-speed chase on Mercer Road and the Princeton Pike, has been issued summonses for six violations.

John W. Kalman, 549 The Great Road, has been charged with eluding police, speeding, reckless driving, no insurance, unregistered vehicle and overdue inspection. In Township court Monday, his hearing was postponed until July 26

A Christian Science service is a simple, straightforward thing.

No mystery. No ceremony.
But a lot of deeply Christian thinking to apply in your daily life.

There are thoughtful hymns. The Lord's Prayer. Then, a different Lesson-Sermon every week, full of interesting ideas from the Bible and from Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy.

And through it all, a concept of Love, divine Love, the way Christ Jesus lived it, that relates you to God in a new and revitalizing way.

If you think you'd enjoy the freshness of it, we'd love to have you come. This or any Sunday.

According to Lt. Anthony Gaylord, Ptl. Michael Henderson was working radar on Mercer Road near Gallup Road around 10 p.m. on May 29, when he clocked a small Chevrolet Sprint speeding 79 miles an hour in a 45-mile zone. Ptl. Henderson attempted to stop the car but it continued on. He followed it as it sped south toward Lawrence Township past Province Line Road.

Lawrence Twp. police joined in the chase and clocked the 1987 sedan at 81 miles an hours. It accelerated to about 90, Lt. Gaylord said, as it passed several cars and just missed a head-on collision with a northbound car. The speeding car was finally stopped by both patrol cars on Princeton Pike near the Lenox Building. Kalman was arrested, charged and later released.

Following Too Closely. Another traffic violation — following too closely behind another car — led to motor vehicle and drug violations charges against the Levittown, Pa. driver.

The driver, William E. Coffman Jr., 27, of Tiger Lily Lane, has been charged with possession of drugs in a motor vehicle, possession of a controlled dangerous substance, possession of drug paraphernalia, possession of prohibited weapons and devices and following too closely. In court Monday, his papers were sent to the Mercer County Prosecutor's Office.

After Officer Gary L. Conover had stopped Coffman's car on the evening of May 26 on North Harrison Street, he observed a pair of nun-chucks in the rear as he was checking the driver's license and registration. After calling for backup, the officer patted-down Coffman and found a metal cylinder stuck in his right sock. It contained, police said, a whitish-gray substance believed to be methamphetamine.

A search of Coffman's car uncovered drug paraphernalia, including pipes, coke spoon, rolling papers, razor blade, roach holder, partially-burned green vegetation believed to be marijuana and a hollow-point, .44 magnum bullet.

Coffman was placed under arrest, transported to police headquarters, charged and later released on $2,500 bail.

Police Charge Three With Drunken Driving

Township police last week, in separate incidents, charged three drivers with driving while intoxicated.

Marvin V. Lefens, 64, 37 Whipperwill Way, Belle Mead, was observed by Ptl. Michael Henderson at 4:15 Sunday morning on Route 206 near Valley Road, crossing over the center line from one side to another.

After his car was stopped, Mr. Lefens was given a series of coordination tests at the scene. He was placed under arrest and taken to police headquarters where he submitted to a Breathalyzer test. Charged with drunken driving and failure to keep right, he was later released to the custody of his wife.

In Township court Monday, Mr. Lefens's hearing was postponed until July 26.

At 6:41 Saturday morning, police received a call that a car had left the Stuart Road roadway and had ended up on a nature trail near the Tenacre Foundation.

Ptl. Henderson responded and located the car, a 1987 Pontiac, and the driver, Everett J. Landers, 34, of Hermiston, Ore. After performing balance and coordination tests, Mr. Landers was taken to police headquarters where he refused to take a breath test. He was charged with driving while intoxicated and refusal to take a test.

Later released in $1,000 bail, he appeared in Township court Monday where his case was postponed to July 26.

Jean L. Amidon, 41, 751 Village Road West, Lawrenceville, was charged with DWI, after her car struck a metal pole in front of the entrance of the Princeton House on Herrontown Road at 4:45 Friday afternoon.

Ms. Amidon told Ptl. James Strong that she did not remember anything about the accident. She was taken for treatment for lacerations to Princeton Medical Center where a sample of her blood was drawn to be sent to a police lab for analysis.

Police report that Ms. Amidon lost control of her 1985 Pontiac on a curved access road in front of Princeton House. There was no damage to the pole, according to Ptl. Strong who is continuing the investigation.

Six Honorary Doctorates Are Awarded At University's 242nd Commencement

Harold Shapiro (l.) and Surgeon General C. Everett Koop

It rained all the night before, and the sky was dark and threatening even as the parents and friends of the Princeton University graduates staked out their seats in front of Nassau Hall, the traditional site for Commencement.

But the rain held off, as it usually does for this event, and the 242nd Princeton University Commencement proceeded according to plan — relying on the highly reliable predictions of Princeton's experienced weatherman, David Ludlum. Jadwin Gym would have been the contingency location if the rain had not let up before dawn. If there had been a downpour midway through the ceremony, the 1,685 bachelor and advanced degrees would have been conferred en masse in a hurry, and the audience dismissed to find shelter.

The honorary degree recipients would have been escorted indoors to the Faculty Room to receive their degrees in ceremony, citations and all. However, the high humidity did not coalesce into a downpour until early afternoon, some two hours after Commencement was all over.

There were six recipients of honorary degrees this year. Robert H. Dicke of Prospect Street, the Albert Einstein Professor of Science, Emeritus, and professor of physics, emeritus, at Princeton was awarded an honorary doctor of science. Prof. Dicke, who earlier in the weekend celebrated the 50th reunion of the Class of 1939 with whom he earned his undergraduate degree, was cited for "measuring with exquisite precision the minute but crucial values on which competing theories of gravitation hang.

"Combining theoretical insight with practical inventiveness," the citation continued, "he has gauged the shape of the sun and shown its attraction to be constant. His instruments have enabled us to listen to the heavens by microwave, and his equations have told us when we were hearing the lingering tones of the world's begining."

C. Everett Koop, M.D., the genial bearded Surgeon General of the United States Public Health Service, was awarded an honorary doctor of laws. A graduate of Dartmouth College and Cornell University Medical College, Dr Koop was cited for "diagnosing the deadly effects of smoking" and campaigning "relentlessly to free us from our own and from the effects of others' nicotine addiction."

Robert H. Dicke
Albert Einstein Professor of Science, Emeritus

"Prescribing education as an antidote to an epidemic without cure, he has armed the public with straightforward answers in the war against AIDS. Without regard for special interests, party politics, or social standing, he sets his course by the Hippocratic Oath, and still makes house calls — to a nation," the citation read.

The author Doris Lessing received an honorary doctor of laws for having "recreated the history of the 20th century in monumental and impassioned works unrivaled in contemporary letters." Constance Baker Motley, chief judge of the United States District Court in New York City, was also awarded an honorary doctor of laws for having "fought, at risk to her physical safety, personal popularity, and financial security, for the constitutional rights of all citizens to live decent lives under a system that honors, not merely preaches, 'equal justice under law.' "

Emily Townsend Vermeule, art and archaeology professor at Radcliffe, was awarded a doctor of humane letters as a "poet and translater of poets, excavator of ancient sites, and interpreter of Greek art" as well as a lecturer who "holds spellbound her varied audiences."

John T. Walker, Episcopal bishop and dean of Washington Cathedral, Washington, D.C., received the honorary doctor of divinity degree for having repeatedly demonstrated "that the church's true cathedral is the world in all its complexity, need, and hope."

The University Orator, Edmund N. Carpenter II, a charter trustee and an attorney in Wilmington, Del., presented the candiates to Princeton President Harold T. Shapiro, who conferred the degrees.

In keeping with long tradition, the two principal commencement speeches, the valedictory and Latin salutatory addresses, were delivered by members of the graduating class. The valedictorian, Raj Gupta, an electrical engineering major who also earned a certificate from the Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs, is from Bombay, India. The salutatorian was Michael J. Anderson from Gainesville, Fla., who majored in classics.

President Shapiro delivered brief remarks at the conclusion of the commencement ceremonies.

There were 651 men and 466 women in the graduating senior class — a total of 1,097 recipients of bachelor's degrees. The undergraduate degrees included 938 bachelors of arts and 159 bachelors of science in engineering. Five additional undergraduates from earlier classes were also awarded a June degree.

———

Forty-five percent of the graduating seniors received some form of honors. Slightly more men than women were in this group.

The 588 advanced degrees included 226 doctors of philosophy, 231 masters of arts, 65 masters in public affairs, 25 masters of architecture, 31 masters of science in engineering and 10 masters of fine arts.

bike near the intersection of Clay and Witherspoon streets at 1:50 Sunday morning, Chief Michael Carnevale reported, when a man approached and asked if he wanted to buy some crack. When the cyclist declined, the would-be drug trafficker, Chief Carnevale said, struck him in the right eye and fled.

The victim refused treatment for a bruised right eye and a cut in the mouth. Chief Carnevale said that the victim knew his assailant, identified by police as a Township resident.

"We know the principals involved and we expect to make an arrest," Chief Carnevale concluded.

Trip to Colmar Planned By Sigmund and Others

It won't be a post-election vacation on sunny, sandy beaches for Borough Mayor Barbara Sigmund. Instead, she, several members of Council, and a number of business and government leaders will leave on Friday for Colmar, France, Princetnn Borough's sister city.

The group will spend a week in Colmar on an economic development mission arranged by Mayor Sigmund and Colmar Mayor Edmond Gerrer. According to a press release, "Colmar in Alsace, France, is only about as far away from the seat of the new European Parliament in Strasbourg, France, as Princeton is from New York City. By 1992, when the new European economic integration plan takes hold, Princeton's sister city — an hour south — will find itself at the hub of an enormous boom."

During their stay, the New Jerseyans will visit various Colmar businesses to talk about increased commercial ties.

This trip follows the April visit of the Princeton High School Choir and a language study opportunity sponsored by the Princeton Adult School, which is corrently in progress. Also planned is an early July visit of Princeton's American Boy Choir, which will sing with the Colmar Boys' Choir and the Moscow Chamber Symphony on July 3 and 4 as part of the Colmar International Music Festival.

Council President Marvin Reed said the visit will not be at taxpayers' expense. Participants will pay their own transportation costs. The business and governmental leaders will be guests of the city's economic development program, and their spouses will pay their own expenses.

In addition to Mayor Sigmund and Mr. Reed, other Council members scheduled to visit Colmar are Mildred Trotman and Jane Terpstra. Borough Clerk Penelope Edwards-Carter will also participate.

Others scheduled for the visit include County Executive Bill Mathesius; Svein Borgersen, chair of the International Development Committee, Greater Princeton Chamber of Commerce, and president of Princeton Global Technologies; John O'Gorman, president of United Jersey Bank; Dwight Minton, chairman of the Board of Church & Dwight; Robert and Virginia Levine of Princeton Technical Publishers; Karen Jezierny, director of state and community relations, Princeton University, and Hugh and Suzanne Johnston, Princeton filmmakers.

Health Screening Set

The Princeton Regional Health Department wil sponsor a health screening session on Wednesday, June 7, from 2 to 3 at Elm Court, 300 Elm Road. Planned are blood pressure testing and hemocult checks.

Persons wishing to be screened may do so ona a walk-in basis. Prior appointments are not necessary.

Busy Agenda Is Planned At School Board Meeting

The building of 12 new classrooms onto Johnson Park School, a discussion of two new summer programs, and a report on asbestos management were among the topics scheduled to be discussed at the Tuesday, June 6, meeting of the Princeton Regional School Board.

The Board was expected to accept the report of the Enrollment Study Group, which recommended that 12 new classrooms be built onto Jnhnson Park School as a way of meeting the increasing enrollments forecast in the district.

During the four Board-sponsored community meetings held to discuss the recommendations contained in the report, a number of parents questioned the enrollment projections, asserting that there was no need for the new classrooms. Many objected to the delay in returning fifth graders to the elementary schools which would be caused by the planned construction at Johnson Park.

It has been the Board position that children should not be in a school while construction was going on.

The fifth grade, now housed in the middle school, was originally expected to return to the elementary schools in 1990. Because of the construction planned at Johnson Park, however, the students will not return at that time. The Board had hoped to return the fifth graders in 1991 — after the work at Johnson Park was completed — but the uncertainty of construction timetables makes this date tentative.

Given this uncertainty, the Board might wish to examine such options as portable classrooms, said Board President Corinne Kyle.

A School Building Improvement Committee was also expected to be set up by the Board. This would be a finance committee which would review the capital improvements scheduled at Johnson Park and other schools. Among this other work is the new roof required at the high school.

We believe that academic excellence later in life is largely due to an enthusiasm for learning inspired during the early years when a child's motivation is high and his/her chances for success are good. Students in our program in no way leave childhood behind for the sole purpose of intellectual growth. Rather, they celebrate the special gifts of their age: curiosity, flexibility, spontaneity, will, and wonder.

We do not discriminate against race, color or creed

Two proposals resulting from recommendations by a school and community group — one for a two-week summer program for minority youngsters and the second for a support group for eighth-grade students and their parents as they prepare for the transition to high school — were also expected to be heard by the School Board.

These initiatives came out of meetings held by this group, which was formed by School Superintendent Carol Choye in response to complaints by minority parents about the quality of their children's education in the Princeton public schools.

The summer program, for about 20 students in grades one to four, would focus on art one week and science the next. Computers, photography, and nutrition would be themes throughout both weeks.

Students would be selected by principals, teachers, a child study team, or parents. Parent participation and evening activities would be included. A sliding fee scale — modest and able to be waived — is anticipated.

The eighth-grade support group would begin with about 20 culturally and ethnically mixed students. They would be youngsters identified as being able to benefit from additional support from each other and from their parents.

The Board must eventually approve these programs. Money to fund them is available in the budget, said Mrs. Kyle.

The $300,000 school asbestos removal program will have to wait another year. Asbestos was originally supposed to be removed this summer, but the Board could not get the contractors scheduled early enough. The work is now scheduled to be done during the summer of 1990.

Meanwhile, says Board Secretary Robert Rader, Princeton Regional has complied with all requirements, and there is no danger in any school building. "We have had an EPA inspection," he said, "and they were very complimentary on all our efforts."

Asbestos exists in all school buildings, mostly in pipe elbow insulation in the boiler room. "There is some that is friable [crumbling]," said Mr. Rader, "but this is protected." He added that there is nothing about asbestos that creates problems unless it is in the air.

There is no asbestos in any classroom, said Mr. Rader, with the exception of some in a ceiling vent in a high school science laboratory. The students have no access to it, he said, and it is not friable. "There is no danger. If there was, we would have taken action."

Dee Bucciarelli, a parent in the District, was expected to appear at the meeting to discuss the District's asbestos abatement efforts. An activist in the community on asbestos control and education, as well as a professional inspector and asbestos removal planner, Mrs. Bucciarelli was expected to ask the Board to establish an advisory committee to oversee all asbestos-related matters.

Time for a Cool Swim; Time for a Quick Theft

It was hot Saturday afternoon when a Princeton University student decided to cool off by going for a dip in the fountain pool adjacent to the Woodrow Wilson Building.

The student took off his watch and placed it in his loafer. When he returned to his clothing a half-hour later, his Raymond Weil watch, valued beteeen $600 and $1,000, was missing.

Police report the only persons who could be described as suspects were five teens on expensive skate boards seen in the area at the time. Three had blond hair and two were sandy blonds.

Three items were stolen overnight last week from a ground crew's storage shop located below the stands at Palmer Stadium.

Taken were a weed-whacker valued at $300, a gas-powered edger valued at $450 and a $100 heavy duty drill. There were no signs of forced entry and police report it is not certain whether the shed was locked or not. The theft was discovered Friday.

A $430 VCR has been stolen from a meeting room in Forbes College on the Princeton University campus. No forced entry, said Township police, who listed the theft as occurring between Thursday and May 25.

A 35mm Pentax camera and three lenses worth a combined $300 were discovered missing on Thursday from a graduate student's office in Peyton Hall on campus. Police said the office had been locked while the victim was on vacation. Again, no forced entry was reported.

A University student attending a 30th reunion party Friday in Dodd Hall left her purse unattended on a chair for ten minutes — time enough for someone to steal it. Total loss including $20 cash, the purse, credit cards and a North Carolina driver's license, is $180.

When two roommates left their room in Little Hall late Thursday evening, they left the door propped open for some cooling ventilation. Returning at 1:45 a.m, they discovered someone had entered and ransacked the room. Clothing worth $105 was stolen from both victims plus American Express and Visa credit cards.

Reunion Buttons Grabbed. While two Princeton University seniors were walking on University Place near College Road Friday morning at 3 a.m., two young men ran toward them. As they passed, the youths reached out and ripped a reunion button from each victim.

One victim had her button pinned to her shirt, the second on her skirt, both at waist level. Neither student was injured. Police said the buttons are valued at $45 each.

The suspects, both 15 to 17, then fled west on College Road. One is a black male, 5-6 to 5-8, heavy set with a flat-top haircut, wearing a blue shirt and eyeglasses. The second is a thin white male, 5-7, with blond hair.

A $700 bicycle, described as a specialized 'rock-hopper', was stolen between 8 Saturday evening and 8 the next morning from the Colonial Club, 40 Prospect Avenue. Police report the student victim had secured the yellow bike with a lock but the lock had been removed.

For the second time this spring, the three Scandinavian flags (Denmark, Sweden and Norway) have been stolen from the front facade of Viking Furniture on State Road. Measur-

A REPUTATION LIKE OURS DOESN'T HAPPEN OVERNIGHT.

Since 1955, we've been carefully building our reputation here in Princeton. We've built it on a selection of the kind of clothing that we personally appreciate and believe in: business suits, blouses, jackets and dresses in natural fibers like Silk, Linen, Cotton and cool Wool. We've also built it on treating our customers to good old-fashioned service.

As a result, we've built a loyal following, whose word-of-mouth promotion on our part is perhaps our most valuable asset. It should be, it's taken 34 years to develop.

So Your Dog Ate The Petunias!

Every year it's the same old thing. You ponder over just how your garden will look. The catalogs roll in and there's a snowstorm outside and you just can't help yourself — garden, garden, pulses through your mind.

Now it's spring and all the planting is done. 'Good job,' you think as you sip your wine and look at how beautifully you color coordinated everything. Then, disaster strikes, around the corner comes Gunther with dirt on his nose and white petunias stuck to his belly! He thinks he's wonderful because he saved you from a stray cat, but you're ready for that last ride with him to the SPCA.

What to do? Call Grover's immediately and ask for some mature annuals. We'll be able to fill the holes in your garden, but you'll have to take care of Gunther yourself.

Juvenile, 14, Is Charged With Taking Candy, Film

A 14-year-old Princeton juvenile has been charged with shoplifting candy and film worth $54.92 last week from the Super Fresh and Acme food markets in the Princeton Shopping Center.

Township police said the youth was apprehended last Tuesday in the Acme by the store manager and an employee. When they looked into his knapsack, police said, they found a large amount of candy and film that had allegedly been taken from both stores. The youth was taken to police headquarters where he was processed and later released to his mother.

Damage Set at $1,200 In Tractor Mower Fire

As an employee of Coventry Farm opposite Princeton Day School on The Great Road was cutting the grass last Wednesday, he noticed smoke and flame coming from the engine of his John Deere tractor mower.

The employee, police said, was able to get a garden hose and put out the fire but not before there was extensive damage — estimated at $1,200 — to the tractor.

475 Homes, Golf Course Planned in Montgomery

A half-billion-dollar project, which will include 475 luxury homes and an 18-hole golf course to be built on 610 acres near Blawenburg, will break ground in July. Called the Cherry Valley Country Club, it will be developed by DKM Residential Properties Corp. in Lawrence Township.

The development will be located between Route 518 to the north and Cherry Valley Road to the south. The main entrance will be on The Great Road.

The project was conceived about ten years ago by William W. Augustine, according to Robert F. Prewitt of Dana Communications, a Hopewell firm hired by DKM to handle the project's public relations. Mr. Prewitt said that Mr. Augustine, an area developer, gradually acquired all the land involved and then sold his holdings to DKM, where he is now employed.

Cherry Valley Country Club's single-family homes will be clustered around the golf course, which will carry an initial membership fee of at least $15,000, said Mr. Prewitt. The homes, he said, are expected to sell for between $550,00 and $625,000.

As part of the project, DKM will donate 50 acres of land across The Great Road to Montgomery Township for a park. The park's use has not been set, but neighborhood residents will be asked for suggestions.

37 Births Are Reported At The Medical Center

YMCA to Select Youth For Soviet Program

The YMCA has been selected hy the YMCA of the USA as one of four YMCA's nationally to send a camper between the ages of 13 and 15 years to the Soviet Union this summer. The four United States campers will be accompanied by two adult leaders and will participate in the Soviet Union's World Camp Program July 2 to August 11.

The World Camp Program brings together more than 3,000 Soviet youth between the ages of 10 and 14 with delegations of campers from countries all over the world at Camp Artek near Yalta on the Black Sea. The YMCA and the committee of youth organizations in the USSR have been exchanging delegations for many years. YMCA relations with the USSR go back to 1898 when the YMCA of the USA helped to start a YMCA in Leningrad which functioned until the Revolution. This year's group will be the first YMCA camper group to go to the USSR since the early 1960's. It is the first return group in a two-way exchange begun last summer when the United States YMCA hosted four campers and two leaders.

Larry Parsons of Princeton is the chairperson of the YMCA International Committee and will coordinate the selection. The Princeton Youth Fund is subsidizing the camper's expenses.

Interested youth should contact Cherie Godin at the YMCA. Applications are available at

$1 Million to Princeton For Biology Curriculum

Princeton University has been awarded a $1 million Howard Hughes Medical Institute grant to enhance its undergraduate biology curriculum. The five-year grant will enable the University to implement a series of curriculum innovations aimed at improving the teaching of biology and encouraging undergraduates to consider careers in science.

The University's Department of Biology plans to use the grant to:

• design its experimental laboratories for introductory biology and to incorporate computing into all aspects of the labs;

• establish a Summer Institute to provide secondary school teachers and community college teachers from throughout New Jersey with a program of seminar and laboratory workshops and the opportunity to develop biology laboratories;

• provide a tutorial program designed to ease the transition from high school to university-level biology;

• expand a summer research program for college juniors.

The program will incorporate an aggressive affirmative component, with a special emphasis on enrolling womeo and minority applicants and nurturing their scientific skills.

Princeton is one of 51 universities to receive $61 million in grants from the Howard Hughes Medical Institute. The grants are designed to help increase the number of students who pursue research and teaching careers in the medical and biological sciences and related disciplines, including chemistry, physics and mathematics.

Brombert Named Chair Of Humanities Council

Prof. Victor Brombert will become chairman of Princeton University's Humanities Council, effective July 1.

Prof. Brombert is Henry Putnam University Professor of Romance Languages and Literatures and Comparative Literature, and he serves as director of the Gauss Seminars in Criticism. His areas of scholarly interest include French literature of the 19th and 20th centuries, the history of ideas, problems in criticism, and comparative studies in narrative. He joined the Princeton faculty in 1975.

As chairman of the Humanities Council, Prof. Brombert will succeed W. Robert Connor, Andrew Fleming West Professor in Classics, who will leave Princeton this summer to become director of the National Humanities Center.

Prof. Brombert has written nine books: The Criticism of T.S. Eliot (1949), Stendhal et la voie oblique (1954), The Intellectual Hero (1961), The Novels of Flaubert (1966), Stendhal: Fiction and the Themes of Freedom (1968), Flaubert par lui-meme (1971), The Romantic Prison (1978), Victor Hugo and the Visionary Novel (1984), and The Hidden Reader (1988).

The Council of the Humanities was founded in 1953 to foster significant teaching and research in the humanities. The council serves as a locus for endeavors that bring together faculty, students and distinguished visitors from many fields.

Resident Is Honored By Princeton University

Princeton University has honored Hugh deN. Wynne with its 1989 Alumni Council Service Award for his years of volunteer work on behalf of the University.

Mr. Wynne, a retired oil company executive who lives at 100 Battle Road Circle, was one of three alumni presented the award in ceremonies held during Princeton's annual reunion weekend. He is a member of the Class of 1939 and also holds a graduate degree in geology from Princeton.

Victor Brombert

The award citation noted Mr. Wynne's longtime devotion to Princeton and in particular his role as a key volunteer for A Campaign for Princeton, the University's $411 million, five-year fund-raising effort, which ended in 1986.

He was cited for having been "a valuable volunteer in fund-raising, both on behalf of his beloved Class of 1939, which he has served as vice president and president, and the University at large. His efforts as chairman of the Committee on Princetoniana have led to the restoration of several historic sculptures on campus."

Professor Is Selected To Head English Dept.

Prof. Elaine Showalter has been appointed chair of the English Department for a four-year term, effective July 1.

Prof. Showalter joined the faculty in 1984 and holds the Avalon Professorship in the Humanities. Considered a pioneer of feminist literary criticism, she is also an authority on Victorian literature.

Ms. Showalter will be on leave during the 1989-90 academic year. She will utilize a National Endowment for the Humanities senior fellowship to pursue work on a literary history of American women writers, and will spend the fall at the Center for Literary Studies at Harvard and the spring in London.

Prof. of English Thomas P. Roche will serve as acting chair of the department for the year.

"I am gratified that professors Showalter and Roche have agreed to lead the English Department at this moment in its history," said President Harold T. Shapiro in announcing the appointments. "As scholars and as teachers, they represent the extraordinary strength manifest in the department. Knowing their commitment to their work, to their colleagues and to their students, I can feel only the fullest confidence about the future of the department.

"I want to take this opportunity to assure faculty and students in English — and throughout the University — that this administration is committed to the well-being of the department, now and in the future," President Shapiro added.

Prof. Showalter has written two books, A Literature of Their Own and The Female Malady: Women, Madness and Culture. Three new works will be published in 1990: Border Lines: Gender and Creativity in the "Fin de Siecle," The Tenth Muse: Traditions and Contradictions in American Women's Writing, and Hysteria in Western Civilization (co-authored with Roy Porter and Sander Gilman).

Prof. Roche is a specialist in Renaissance poetry. He wrote The Kindly Flame: A Study of the Third and Fourth Books of Spenser's "Faerie Queene" and Petrarch and the English Sonnet Sequences.

He produced an annotated edition of The Faerie Queene, and he co-edited Spencer Studies: A Renaissance Poetry Annual.

Palmer's for each winner and his or her father

Entries of 25 words or less should be on a plain 8½ by 11 sheet. Illustrations are encouraged as long as they are on the same side as the copy. All entries received by June 16 are eligible and should be submitted to Mike Jones, Nassau Inn, Palmer Square, Princeton 08542.

Entries will be on exhibit on Palmer Square from 11 a.m. until 4 p.m. on Father's Day. During this time the public will be asked to vote for their favorite essay and drawing. Winners will be announced at 4 p.m. on the steps of the inn.

June Events Announced For Forrestal Village

June events at Princeton Forrestal Village will include a street Food Fest on Saturday, an Outdoor Day for campers and wilderness lovers on June 10, and an auto rally and show on Sunday, June 11.

The food fest will begin at noon when clowns, mimes, stilt walkers, jugglers and musicians will stroll around the fountain square outside the Marriott. A tent will be set up featuring specialty food items from eight Market Hall restaurants.

Safe outdoor fun is the theme June 10, from 10 a.m. until 6 p.m., at the Blue Ridge Mountain Sports Outdoor Day and tent sale. Tent manufacturers will be on hand, and there will be a freeze-dried food tasting, orienteering lessons, outdoor photography lessons, emergency first-aid instruction, and a rock climbing seminar.

On June 11, a registration fee of $20 will entitle any licensed, insured driver, along with a navigator, to take off through the streets of Princeton starting at 10:30 a.m., and follow a set of route instructions. Registration begins at 8:30 a.m. A winners' reception will be held at Woodrow's, with trophies awarded for various driving skills. The auto show will feature a variety of cars from dealerships in the Princeton area.

Evaluations Scheduled For Swimming Lessons

Evaluations for swimming and diving lessons will be held at Community Park Pool this Saturday and Saturday, June 17, from 9 to 10:45 a.m. Princeton residents and season ticket holders are eligible for the lessons. Children must be at least 4 years old as of last April 1.

Evaluations are intended to place children into the proper classes. Children are asked to bring their bathing suits so that they can be evaluated properly. The cost for swimming and diving lessons is $15 for residents and season ticket holders. Identification will be required.

Classes will be held on Monday, Wednesday and Fridays at either 10:30 to 11, 11:05 to 11:35, or 11:40 to 12:10. The first class will be held on Friday, June 23.

The Recreation Department is also taking registration for an advanced lifesaving class. The class will begin on Wednesday evening, June 28, and run on Monday and Wednesday evenings from 6 to 8 p.m. through August 2.

Participants must be at least 15 years old at the beginning of the course. The cost for the class is $40 per person. Registrants must also buy the A.L.S. book from the Red Cross. Registration is limited and will be taken of a first-come, first-served basis.

The Community Park Swim and Diving Team is currently practicing after school. After-school practices will continue until June 22 at which time they will move to their normal time on weekday mornings.

The team and competitive swim program offers an instructional, recreational and competitive environment for children ages 6 to 17. The coaching staff works carefully with all children to teach them the basics of swimming and/or diving competitively.

Costs for the program range from $60 to $150, depending upon ability and resi-

Craft Demonstrations Set At Mercer Canal House

The public is invited to a family outing, "Turn of the century Craftsmen by the Canal," Sunday from 1 to 4 at the Port Mercer Canal House on Quaker Bridge Road at the Delaware and Raritan Canal. The restored canal house and garden will be open and refreshments will be served at no charge. Pat Colavita will play the piano.

Area craftsmen will demonstrate their skills and some will conduct hands-on instruction for children, such as using a hand-cranked corn thresher from Howell Living History Farm in a "corn beé." Weaver Joy Staller will demonstrate weaving and teach children how to weave on simple kits available for a quarter. Examples of her work will also be on display.

Sam Moyer, the Broom Squire from Medford Lakes, will demonstrate broom making from corn he himself has grown. Dr. Moyer, a geneticist, has developed several varieties of broom corn. Margaret Egli of Titusville, a member of the Basket Guild of New Jersey, will demonstrate her self-taught skills and will offer baskets for sale.

Cindy Thompson of North Wales, Pa., will demonstrate rug hooking and Priscilla Algana of Princeton will do calligraphy. The Lawrence Historical Society is host for his event.

June 11 is also Canal Day, when according to custom, the Lawrence Historic Society will welcome canoers to come in and refresh themselves. Canal Day is sponsored by the Lawrence Township Recreation Department.

"Surviving Adolescents" Topic of Carrier Talk

A free program for parents, "Surviving Adolescents," will be held at the Carrier Foundation in Belle Mead on Tuesday, June 20.

Normal phases of adolescence, including teenage rebellion and role conflicts, will be discussed, as well as divorce, single parenting, and blended families. Lawrence T. deMilio, M.D., director of adolescent services at the hospital, will be the keynote speaker.

The program will be held from 6:30 to 9 p.m. in the Atkinson Amphitheater. Pre-registration is required by calling the public relations department at (201) 874-4000, extension 4515 or 4518.

Summer Volleyball

The YMCA is holding registration for its outdoor summer volleyball leagues. There will be an intermediate level league played on Thursday nights and a competitive level league played on Wednesday nights. The leagues will begin in mid-June. If interested, call Karen Smith at 497-YMCA.

June Outings Planned By West Windsor Group

On Saturday, West Windsor-Plainsboro Community Education will sponsor a trip to Gettysburg. Following lunch at Dobbin House there will be guided tour of the battlefield, followed by a self-guided tour of the Eisenhower National Historic Site.

Cost is $36 for adults and $33 for children under 12.

On Saturday, June 17, the group will sponsor a bus trip to New York to see "Jerome Robbins Broadway." The bus will leave at 9 a.m. from the Board of Education, 505 Village Road West, Princeton Junction. Cost is $69 for orchestra seats and bus transportation.

To register for either event, call the Community Education Office at 452-2185.

Bird Research Is Focus Of Watershed Program

The Stony Brook-Millstone Watershed Association is offering an opportunity to look at birds through the eyes of Hannah Suthers, a research associate in Princeton University's Biology Department. Ms. Suthers has conducted bird habitat studies in the Sourland Mountains and can document the changes that occur in bird populations as an old field ages.

There will be a slide presentation on Friday night at 8 followed by a field trip Sunday in the Sourland Mountains where Ms. Suthers will be banding birds. The time will be arranged after registration. Space is limited, and a portion of the program fee will be donated to help Ms. Suthers buy new mist nets for her research. The fee is $12 for members, $20 for nonmembers.

The Watershed Association invites the public to visit its new Buttinger Environmental Awareness Center. This Saturday there will be activities connected with the six-foot high earthball. The center is open Wednesday through Saturday from 10 to 5.

There are photography exhibits, ecology exhibits, an activities table, a discovery room and a reading room. Current exhibits include carnivorous plants, live turtles, fish and snakes, and a video microscope. At the activity table, visitors can listen to bird songs or try to build a nest the way birds do.

The Watershed Association will be sponsoring a sailing trip on the Hudson River in the 100-foot sloop the Clearwater on Saturday, July 29. For 15 years, this wooden sloop has traveled up and down the Hudson River impressing upon its passengers through music and educational programs the importance of cleaning up and keeping clean the river water.

The Clearwater sails from Liberty State Park into New York Harbor at 10 a.m., returning at 3. From its deck, participants will enjoy a unique perspective of Manhattan and the Statue of Liberty. They will also participate with the crew in raising the big sails, seining for fish and other aquatic life, identifying plankton and bottom life, singing and hauling lines.

The bus will depart from the Watershed Association headquarters at 8 and return by 5. A gourmet box lunch will be provided. The cost is $75 per person for members and $85 for nonmembers. Included in this amount are bus transportation, morning coffee and doughnuts, the box lunch, cider and wine, and the five-hour sail.

For more information and to register, call the Watershed Association at 737-7592.

Summer Camp Program Offered by YMCA Staff

Five authors will present public readings in a nightly series from June 19 to 23, sponsored by the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation and the New Jersey Department of Higher Education.

The five are Nicholas Delbanco, who will read June 19, Stepen Dunn, June 20, Sharon Olds, June 21, Daniel Halpern, June 22, and Joyce Carol Oates, June 23. The readings will take place at 8 in Bowl 5 of the Woodrow Wilson School.

The readings are in connection with a writers workshop for members of the faculty at colleges in New Jersey, administered by the Foundation with funding by the New Jersey Department of Higher Education. The program is directed by Mr. Delbanco, director of the Graduate Writing Program at the University of Michigan and former director of the Bennington Writers Workshops. His books include 10 novels, a collection of short stories, and several works of nonfiction, including the forthcoming Running in Place. Scenes from the South of France.

Mr. Dunn, professor of creative writing at Stockton State College, will lead the poetry section of the workshop. He has written eight books of poetry, including the forthcoming Between Angels. Guest writers whose readings will be open to the public are Ms. Olds and Mr. Halpern.

Womanspace to Gain From Comedy, Auction

The community is invited to enjoy the comedy of Nick Lewin and other performers from Catch a Rising Star, N.Y.C. Saturday at the Hyatt Regency, Princeton. The afternoon will commence at 2 p.m. with cocktails and a silent auction followed by a 1½-hour comedy cabaret.

The afternoon's entertainment will continue with a not-so-silent auction, a feast to be shared with the King and Queen of Fabularia and more. These festivities will benefit Womanspace, Inc., the Mercer County agency serving victims of domestic violence.

Tickets at $30 entitle guests to cocktails and the silent auction. Guests who wish to enjoy dinner as well will be accommodated at $100 per person. The King and Queen of Fabularia welcome guests at the Royal Table at $150 per person.

For reservations and further information, call Womanspace at 394-0136.

Workshop on Emotions Set by Guidance Center

The Center for Guidance and Counseling of Princeton and Trenton will sponsor a second presentation entitled "Coping with Your Emotions: From Feeling Bad to Feeling Good." The talk, given by Dr. William K. Kirby, clinical director of the center, will be held Friday, June 23, from 10 to 11:30 at the Ewing Township branch of the Mercer County Library, Scotch Road, Ewing.

Dr. Kirby will talk about coping with feelings such as worry, anger and depression. He will discuss responsibility for one's own feelings and getting off the emotional roller coaster. Also included in the talk will be methods of replacing negative thinking and feelings with positive ideas and feelings.

The workshop is free and open to the public, but space is limited. Call the Center at 392-7174 or 921-1773 to register.

Children's Film Set By Rocky Hill Library

The Mary Jacobs Library in Rocky Hill will present a film for school-age children on Wednesday, June 14, at 3:45. Cicero, the Queen's Drum Horse will be shown.

This program is free and open to the public. For further information, call the library at 924-7073.

45-Acre Hopewell Site Acquired for Residences

Lawrence Zirinsky Associates has announced the acquisition of a 45-acre site in Hopewell Township for the purpose of developing a luxury residential community.

In making the announcement, Zirinsky executive Tim Tomai noted that, although still in the initial planning stages, the firm is considering the creation of custom-designed single-family dwellings located on three-acre sites. "At this time," he said, "we are projecting that these homes will be in the half-million dollar range." The Zirinsky site is located at West Broad Street.

Lawrence Zirinsky maintains offices in New York City and Edison. The firm has been responsible for the development of office buildings and residential communities throughout New Jersey, New York, Florida and Delaware.

Writing, Speaking Skills Focus of New Company

Richard Trenner of Park Place has been named president of Advanced Communication Training (ACT), a consulting firm based at 245 Nassau Street. ACT develops and runs training programs in writing and speaking skills for businesses that want to improve the quality of communication among employees and with customers.

Among the firm's New Jersey clients are AT&T Bell Laboratories, including the AT&T Engineering Research Center in Princeton, and The BOC Group, a British conglomerate, which has its U.S. base of operations in Murray Hill.

ACT conducts courses in technical and business writing, runs writing centers (one-on-one tutorials), and provides training in speech and presentation skills. One of ACT's specialties is teaching non-native speakers how to write quickly and speak fluently in English. Among the consultants who help set up and conduct training programs for ACT are faculty members and doctoral candidates from Rutgers, Princeton, and Columbia universities.

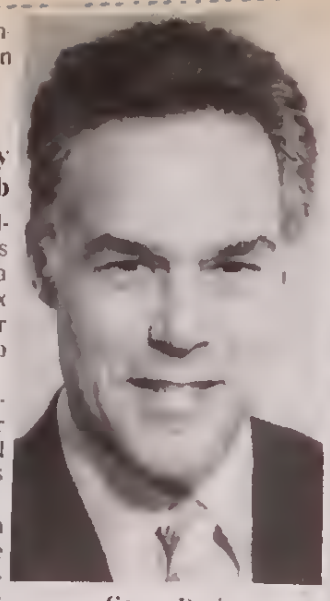
Mr. Trenner, who has degrees in English from both Princeton and Rutgers, where he has also taught, is the author or co-author of three books about how to write on scientific and business subjects. One of them, The Bell Labs Style Guide, won an award for excellence in the Society for Technical Communication's International Competition in April 1989.

Research Laboratory Is Dedicated by Squibb

Squibb Corporation has dedicated its Forrestal Greens Laboratory in Plainsboro, a 37,610-square foot complex which will become the cancer research center for the Squibb Institute for Medical Research. Work conducted at this complex will also include molecular microbiology and chemical research, but the primary focus will be oncology.

Richard M. Furlaud, Squibb chairman and chief executive officer, said: "This state-of-the-art laboratory facility has enabled Squibb to enter a new and exciting area of science. Forrestal Greens is the first realization of the new programs in molecular biology at Squibb, and the opening of these laboratories is tangible evidence of our commitment to expanding Squibb's research investment into new fields."

The Forrestal Greens Laboratory will eventually house a maximum of 12 chemists and about 50 biologists/biochemists. The Squibb Institute for Medical Research is the research arm of Squibb Corporation.



Garry Dreier

The new owners have appointed Leslie A. Logan as the on-site managing director. Ms. Logan served for seven years as vice president and principal with Matrix Development Group in Cranbury. As one of the principals in the original Matrix Group, she created the marketing plan for its $250 million real estate portfolio, and also served as partner-in-charge of its Forsgate Country Club project.

Architectural and landscape additions are planned for the building complex.

Personnel Notes

Garry Dreier, a lifelong resident of Princeton, has joined the Princeton office of Gloria Nilson Realtors as a sales associate. He has been in development for 18 years.

Mr. Dreier has a B.A. from Dartmouth and an MBA from Columbia and was formerly president of Excel Products Co., Inc.

Mark D'Amico, of Hopewell, has been promoted to media planner at Dana Communications, Hopewell. A graduate of Hamilton College, he formerly taught creative arts courses at the Peddie School and managed a small arts and crafts shop.

The firm also named Tom Tagariello art director and Alan Rambam public relations coordinator.

Cynthia J. Dreblow

Cynthia J. Dreblow of Princeton has been promoted to account executive and media coordinator at Barbara Berglund Associates, Pennington. She joined the advertising and marketing firm in March, 1988.

Dayle Stein, of Lawrenceville, has been appointed branch manager for Nassau Savings' Princeton office. She was formerly with New Jersey Bank, where she was branch manager of the Kingston office and assistant branch manager of the Alexander Road Office.

Also, Rebecca Radvany was named branch coordinator for Nassau Savings. She was most recently a consultant specializing in sales training seminars for bank employees.

Leslie A. Logan

New Name and Manager For Forrestal Buildings

"College Park" will be the designation of the 11-building complex at Princeton Forrestal Center purchased jointly by Pocantico Development Associates, a Rockefeller family company, and Lawrence Zirinsky Associates. Both are based in New York City.

The 11 buildings were originally developed and built by Prudential Insurance Company. Composed of single story and mid-rise buildings, they total 814,00 square feet of office space. Among the tenants are I.B.M., General Electric and Corning Glass.

COOKED TO PERFECTION: Darryl Stanley (right) a clerk at Urken Supply Company, 27 Witherspoon Street, and owner Irv Urken demonstrate the new Weber Genesis gas barbeque grill which has stainless steel burners that are ready for barbequing in five minutes. Proof was in the eating of steak, chicken, sausage and kabobs for those lucky enough to attend the sidewalk demonstration.

Construction

double the usual volume of traffic because of some other infrastructure improvement (like replacing the Carter Road bridge) in another area.

Elizabethtown Water Company has two major projects under way in the Township. One is to bring a new 16-inch water main from Ridgeview Road south along The Great Road to Drakes Corner Road, and along Drakes Corner to water tanks located north of this road. These water tanks are at an elevation which serves most of the ridge.

According to Township Engineer Robert V. Kiser, the Township requires that if traffic must be reduced to a single lane to allow work to proceed, the one-lane closing may take place between the hours of 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. only. This is done in order not to disrupt people driving to and from work more than necessary, Mr. Kiser says.

He expects Elizabethtown Water Company's contractor to be out of The Great Road area sometime in the next two weeks. Work will continue along Drakes Corner Road for the next three months, however.

Water Main Installation. Elizabethtown's other major project is the installation of a 30-inch water main along Rosedale Road from Constitution Hill West to Province Line Road. Mr. Kiser reports that the contractor has been experiencing some difficulty working around the bends in Rosedale Road, and he expects that Rosedale will be shut to traffic altogether between the hours of 9 to 4, starting this week.

He says that when the contractor reaches the Stony Brook bridge he expects Rosedale will be open to a single lane of traffic again from 9 to 4. The company is also in the midst of a major cleanout and relining of its water main along Mercer Road. In the Township this involves construction and one-lane traffic at Mercer and Springdale roads, but Mr. Kiser expects this work to be completed next month.

Finally, Elizabethtown has agreed to replace a portion of a smaller water main on Cherry Hill Road between Crestview Road and Bouvant Drive with a 16-inch main. Work on this project will start next month, if the water company receives a satisfactory bid. Mr. Kiser says he wants to make sure the Elizabethtown contractor has finished work on The Great Road before he allows portions of Cherry Hill Road to be closed.

Cherry Hill Road is due for a major reconstruction by the Township, but Mr. Kiser is working to get a new section of sewer installed between Foulet Drive and Crestview as well as the larger water line in place before the road reconstruction begins.

Improving Ewing/Harrison. Another major road reconstruction project is planned for Ewing and Harrison Street. The Township has contracted with Fellows Read to design and engineer improvements to the Ewing/Harrisnn/Bunn intersection before undertaking the overlayment from Route 206 along Ewing Street to Harrison Street all the way to the Borough line. These improvements must be coordinated with a new traffic light that is expected to be installed at Mt. Lucas and Ewing Street.

New Jersey Department of Transportation permission is required for this signal, but Mr. Kiser hopes to have the Ewing/Harrison project under way before the end of the year. During this construction season, the Township expects to complete repaving Herrontown Road, now that work on a new sewer line is completed and Transco has finished work on the natural gas pipe line in this area. Herrontown will get a new topping from Poor Farm Road to near Caldwell Drive.

Restoring the paving along Ewing Street and Linden Lane where Elizabethtown Water Company installed bigger water mains last fall is also planned for this construction season, as is overlaying the short section of Guyot Avenue near Witherspoon Street.

When the Sewer Operating Committee's contractor is finished putting in a new section of sewer trunk line along Quaker Road between Princeton Pike and Route 206, Mr. Kiser expects to undertake a complete overlayment of that section of Quaker Road. Design work for this project is under way. Mr. Kiser hopes this project can be undertaken this year, but he will coordinate with the SOC.

Construction has just begun on the replacement of some seven miles of SOC sewer line known as the western trunk. The project is beginning at the foot of Alexander Street, near Turning Basin Park, and will proceed through the Institute Woods. Sections of roads that will be affected over the one year that it will take to complete this project include Princeton Pike, Quaker Road, Route 206, Rosedale Road, The Great Road in the vicinity of Mountain Avenue, Route 206 and Valley Road.

Public Service Electric & Gas Co. has also chosen this construction season to install new 16-inch gas mains in two different areas. One involves Alexander Street, and although most of the work is taking place in the Borough, there is a portion in the Township that is involved below University Place.

The other area is along Province Line Road from the Rosedale Road intersection to the Lawrence Township line. Work will be starting this month, Mr. Kiser says.

Transco is also using this construction season to maintain and replace sections of its natural gas pipeline in this area. According to Mr. Kiser, the road crossings that are involved include Herrontown (just completed), Bunn Drive, Mt. Lucas, Route 206, Cherry Hill Road and Pretty Brook Road.

Work will be ongoing over the next three months, but the company hopes to be able to tunnel under some of these road crossings and pull the new pipeline through, rather than dig up the road. But that depends on how much rock the company encounters, Mr. Kiser says.

has been very cooperative."

Lawrence Associates needs several more approvals before it can break ground. One of the most difficult may be obtaining permission from the Lawrence Township Council to put in a new sewer line parallel to an existing line that services the Mercer Mall. The existing line does not have capacity for the entire 880-unit development, and the developer will have to install a new 10-inch line.

A recent Superior Court decision over the issue of where Squibb Corp. would install a new sewer line to serve major additions to its Route 206 campus gave the Lawrence Township Council authority over "extensions" of sewer lines. According to Joseph Stonaker, Lawrence Planning Board attorney, the issue before the Council will be whether what Yorkshire Village is proposing is an "extension" or an "expansion."

At least two members of the Lawrence Township Council are opposed to granting sewer extensions on the grounds that the treatment plant is already at or near capacity, and new lines will force an expensive expansion. If the Council does approve the extension, Yorkshire Village will need additional approvals from the New Jersey Department of Environmental Protection, the Ewing-Lawrence Sewerage Authority, and Mercer County, for an amendment to the wastewater management plan.

Lawrence Associates will also need site plan approval of the Mercer County Planning Board. Mercer County Executive Bill Mathesius has been quoted in the press as saying, "That's such an enormous project and so ill-conceived in terms of management of traffic and infrastructure demands. We [the County Planning Board] almost certainly will not approve it."

Bridge an tssue. An issue of particular concern in the wider area was the new bridge proposed as part of extending Province Line Road on a new alignment through the development. The Lawrence board has stipulated that only the first two phases, or 263 units, of the six-phase project can be built before the bridge is in place.

The Delaware & Raritan Canal Commission reluctantly agreed "in concept" last April to allowing the existing Port Mercer Bridge to remain open to Princeton-bound traffic. The Commission would have preferred not adding a new canal crossing unless traffic would be eliminated from an existing crossing. The Commission must formally approve the final bridge design, as well as the entire site plan.

The Lawrence Township engineer has pointed out that the section of Province Line west of the Canal that is flooded and frequently impassable will have to be raised, not only to line up with the new bridge but also to provide access to the bridge year-round. The developer can be assessed his fair share of the cost of this improvement, but the question of who will pay for the remainder has not been answered.

Questions were also raised at last week's hearing about whether there is enough right-of-way in which to make the improvements, or whether the existence of wetlands will mean they can't be made at all. According to Planning Board member Richard Hocking, Province Line Road is a Township Road which the County proposes to take responsibility for and for which the County has earmarked money in its budget for improvements.

The New Jersey Department of Transportation will also have to approve the access to the development from Route 1 through Mercer Mall.

When built, Yorkshire Village is proposed to include 176 Mt. Laurel units. However, a stand-off developed during the hearings between a former chairman of the Township's housing board and the developer concerning the concentration of 112 of these units in the mid-rise buildings. In the end the developer agreed to pursue a regional contribution agreement, by which some or all of the Mt. Laurel units would be offered, along with a cash contribution, to another municipality.

If this tack is pursued, approval would be required of the Lawrence Township Council and the Council on Affordable Housing.

At press time, Mayor Barbara Sigmund was running second to Democratic gubernatorial winner James Florio in the State gubernatorial primary. However, she was a front runner in Princeton. In the Borough, she received 574 votes to Congressman Florio's 297 and Assemblyman Alan Karcher's 122. In the Township, she received 714 votes to Congressman Florio's 347 and Assemblyman Karcher's 172.

licans would face Township Mayor Phyllis Marchand and Committeewoman Janet Mitchell. Mrs. Marchand and Ms. Mitchell polled 945 and 903 votes, respectively; Mr. Tomalin had 694.

Commenting on his victory, Mr. Woodbridge said: "I'm going to wait a day or two and then decide. I would have preferred Gail Firestone or Carol Wojciechowicz to run again."

The strongest Democratic candidate for Council proved to be newcomer Roger Martindell, who pulled 646 votes, not counting absentee ballots. Ms. Terpstra received 473 votes and Mr. Wadsworth 468 votes. Absentee ballots, provided by Borough Democrats, added 13 votes to Ms. Terpstra's total and 11 to Mr. Wadsworth's, making Ms. Terpstra a winner by seven votes. Mr. Jackson polled 302 votes.

OBITUARIES

David H. McAlpin died June 1 at his home on Pretty Brook Road at the age of 92 after a long illness

He was a lifelong patron of photography, an alumnus and supporter of Princeton University, an active conservationist and officer of many philanthropic organizations. Mr. McAlpin was a partner of Clark Dodge & Co., an investment firm, for 45 years until his retirement, and trustee of several corporations.

Photography was Mr. McAlpin's consuming lifelong interest, and he played a major role in getting it accepted as an art form. The photographer Ansel Adams once said, "No one has done more than Dave McAlpin to make photography appreciated in this country as an art." From the time he met Alfred Stieglitz in the early 1920s, his appreciation of photography grew along with his friendships with some of the great photographers of this century and his support of photographic endeavors.

In 1936, when he was treasurer of the Museum of Modern Art, Mr. McAlpin underwrote the first photographic exhibition presented by the museum, and he was the first chairman of the department of photography when it was established at the museum in 1940.

Like the photographers he admired, such as Alfred Stieglitz, Edward Steichen, Ansel Adams, Edward Weston and Eliot Porter, David McAlpin valued nature. His service to conservation included long-standing associations with the New York Zoological Society and the Association for the Preservation of the Adirondacks. He was a charter trustee of the Conservation Foundation in Washington, D.C. and of the Stony Brook Millstone Watershed Association, which he founded in 1951.

He was also instrumental in establishing the innovative grant program of the Geraldine R. Dodge Foundation, which he also served as a charter trustee.

Mr. McAlpin was born in Mt. Pleasant, N.Y., attended The Hill School in Pottstown, Pa., and graduated from Princeton University in 1920 with an A.B. in history. He earned an M.A. in economics from Princeton in 1921 and a law degree from Harvard Law School in 1924.

He was a special assistant to the district attorney of Southern New York for a year after being admitted to the New York Bar and to the United States Attorney General in the Department of Justice, Washington, D.C. Not long after he switched to investments and became a partner in Clark, Dodge & Co. in New York City in 1929, retiring in 1968. He served in the U.S. Navy during World War I and as a commander in the U.S. Naval Reserve in World War II.

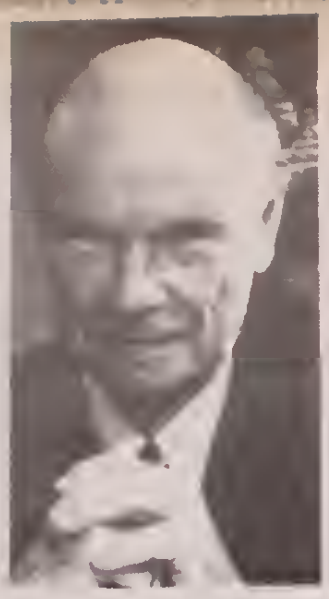
Mr. McAlpin was devoted to Princeton University and served as a trustee from 1945 on. He was a benefactor of the Library, the Music Department and the Art Department. He was the prime mover behind the creation of a chair in the history of photography in the Art Department, the first such chair in an American university. He also served as chairman of seven alumni councils during his lifetime and was a trustee of the Princeton University Press.



David H. McAlpin

He was a longtime trustee and vice-chairman of Union Theological Seminary, a trustee and life fellow of the Metropolitan Museum of Art, and a trustee of the Philharmonic Society, all in New York City. In Princeton, he was a member and elder of Nassau Presbyterian Church and a member of the Nassau Club.

———

Survivors include his wife, Sarah Sage McAlpin; two daughters, Lorna McAlpin Hauslohner of Hosemont, Pa.; and Esther M. McAlpin Brownell of Cumberland Center, Me.; a son, David H. McAlpin Jr. of Skillman; two stepsons, Gustav L. Stewart of Fitchburg, Mass., and John C. Stewart of Barbados, W.I.; 13 grandchildren and 14 great-grandchildren.

A memorial service was held at Nassau Presbyterian Church. In lieu of flowers contributions in his memory may be made to the Stony Brook-Millstone Watershed Association, R.R. 1, Box 243A, Pennington 08534, or to Union Theological Seminary, 3041 Broadway, N.Y. 10027.

Lester L. Burd, 73, a lifelong resident of Pennington, died May 29 at Mercer Medical Center. Before his retirement in 1981, Mr. Burd worked for more than 40 years as a machinist for Stryker Machine Products of Trenton.

Surviving are his wife, Helen Fletcher Burd; two sons, John L. Burd of Ewing and Wayne F. Burd of Ringoes; a daughter, Cathy S. Yeager of Ewing; and two grandchildren, Joy and James Burd of Ewing.

The service was held at the Blackwell Memorial Home, Pennington, the Rev. William McQuoid, pastor of Pennington Presbyterian Church officiating. Burial was in Harbourton Cemetery.

Dr. C. Stanley Green, 79, of Whitewater, Wisc., died May 24 of complications from cancer. He was an osteopath and practiced in Princeton in the 1930s.

Dr. Green attended The Hun School and was a graduate of Hamilton College and the Kirksville College of Osteopathy and Surgery. He began his 53-year practice of osteopathy in Princeton in 1935 but later took over his father's practice in New York City.

He was active in a number of professional medical societies and in 1953 was elected a Fellow of the New York Academy of Osteopathy. In 1976, he moved to Larchmont, N.Y., where he continued to practice osteopathy until 1988, when he moved to the Fairhaven Retirement Community in Whitewater, Wisc.

Husband of the late Virginia Faxton Bremer Green, who died in 1966, he is survived by a son,, Dr. Charles S. Green III of Whitewater, Wisc.; two sisters, Mrs. Alan M. Welty of Larchmont, N.Y., and Dr. Elizabeth G. Bell of Topton, Pa., and several nieces and nephews.

A memorial service was held at Fairhaven Retirement Community. Another memorial service will be held at the chapel of Kensico Cemetery, Valhalla, N.Y., in July at a date to be announced.

In lieu of flowers, memorial contributions may be made to the American Cancer Society; the New York College of Osteopathic Medicine of the New York Institute of Technology, Old Westbury, N.Y. 11568, or to a charity of the donor's choice.

———

Marcia Kerr Clowes, 41, of Pennington, died June 1 at Princeton Medical Center.

Born in Trenton, Mrs. Clowes lived in Pennington all her life. She worked as an office manager for Higgins Disposal in Kingston.

———

Sorviving are her hosband, Robert W. Clowes; two daughters, Jennifer and Taryn, at home; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert S. Kerr Sr., of Pennington; two sisters, Mary Elizabeth McAllister of Pine Bluff, N.C., and Sarah Jane Kerr of Pennington; four brothers, Herbert S. Jr. of Berkeley, Calif., Jeffrey K. and Timothy F., both of Atlanta, Ga., and Kevin C. Kerr of Norristown, Pa.; and her paternal grandmother, Elizabeth S. Kerr of Harbourton.

The service was held at St. Matthew's Episcopal church in Pennington, the Rev. John C. Belmont, rector, officiating. Burial was in Ewing Church Cemetery. Memorial contributions may be made to the Department of Oncology of the Medical Center at Princeton, 253 Witherspoon Street, Princeton 08540.

Harold Ostroff, 66, former owner of Renwick's Restaurant in Princeton, died May 23 at Delray Community Hospital, Delray Beach, Fla.

RELIGION

Bulletin Notes

Several members of First Church of Christ, Scientist attended the annual meeting of The First Church of Christ, Scientist in Boston this week.

The meeting represents a coming together of Church members from around the world to rededicate themselves to Christian healing.

With no ordained clergy, and members involved in all aspects of the denomination, Christian Scientists view their church as far more than a building, a form of worship, a body of doctrine or even a group of like-minded people. It is a spiritual force felt in the heart of each member and shared with the world.

The summer series of 10 a.m. services at the Princeton University Chapel will begin on Sunday and will bring to the campus and community a number of distinguished preachers from churches and colleges across the nation.

The guest preacher this Sunday will be the Rev. Conrad H. Massa, Dean of Princeton Theological Seminary and C.W. Newcombe Professor of Practical Theology. A native of Brooklyn, N.Y., Dr. Massa is an alumnus of Columbia University and the graduate school of Princeton Theological Seminary. He served churches in Newark and in Rochester, N.Y., before his election to the deanship in 1979.

The topic of his sermon will be' "Take Away the Stone."

Summer Season Announced By Princeton Rep Company

Princeton Rep Company will inaugurate its summer season at Murray-Dodge Theatre on Thursday, June 22.

The season of four plays will include the New Jersey premieres of Reckless by Craig Lucas; Goblin Market by Polly Pen and Peggy Harmon; and Les Liaisons Dangereuses by Christopher Hampton. Rounding out the schedule is Candida by George Bernard Shaw and a benefit performance of A.R. Gurney Jr.'s Love Letters, which is currently running in New York City.

This is the most ambitious season yet mounted by Princeton Rep, which is a professional Actors' Equity company operating under an Equity Small Professional Theatre contract. Victoria Liberatore is the producing director. Many of the same actors, directors, and designers who contributed their talents to last summer's productions will also be returning.

The season opens with Craig Lucas' Reckless directed by Dennis Delaney. Reckless is an inventive comedy which follows the adventures of an ordinary housewife who is forced to flee her home and husband when, on Christmas Eve, he informs her he's hired a hit man to kill her. Her escapades include an appearance on a TV game show, a joy ride cross country, and surviving a poisoned bottle of Santa's champagne.

Next on the schedule is George Bernard Shaw's classic romantic comedy, Candida. This is the witty and heartwarming tale of an idealistic young poet, Marchbanks, who falls hopelessly in love with Candida, the independent thinking wife of a Christian Socialist parson. Set in the year 1894 in the east end of London, the comedy explores the conflict between the romantic and the rational, in typical Shavian fashion. John Hennessy, artistic director of the New York Theatre Group, will direct.

The second New Jersey premiere of the Princeton Rep season is the musical Goblin Market by Polly Pen and Peggy Harmon. Adapted from the poem by Christina Rossetti, Goblin Market is the story of two Victorian sisters who return to their childhood nursery where they relive their adolescent experiences from an adult perspective. Their memories draw them back to a haunted glen where goblin men tempt them with deadly fruits at twilight.

The musical won several Off-Broadway awards and received critical acclaim during its run at Circle in the Square. Ms. Liberatori will direct.

The final show will be the drama Les Liaisons Dangereuses by Christopher Hampton, adapated from the novel written in 1782 by Choderlos de Laclos. This erotic play examines the private lives of French aristocrats on the brink of the French Revolution. The film version, Dangerous Liaisons, won numerous Academy Awards, and the original production by the Royal Shakespeare Company met with great acclaim in Stratford and London.

Directing will be Theo Barnes, who has staged productions at La Mama E.T.C., and at Judson Poets' Theatre in New York City. His acting credits include the title role in Hadrian VII for the national tour.

Princeton Rep is also presenting the work of new playwrights throughout its summer engagement at the Murray-Dodge Theatre as part of its year-long PlayLab Series of staged play readings. These will be announced at a later date.

In addition, the rights to A.R. Gurney Jr.'s new two-character play, Love Letters, have been obtained for a one-night-only benefit performance featuring a major star, to be announced.

The performance schedule for the season is Reckless, June 22 through July 9; Candido, July 13 through July 30; Goblin Market, August 3-13; and Les Liaisons Dangereuses, August 17 through September 3. Showtimes are Thursdays through Sundays at 8 p.m.

Single tickets at the door are $10 to $12 with discounts available for seniors, students and groups. Subscriptions with savings of up to 30 percent are available by phone and mail. To order your subscription, call the administrative office at 921-3682 before July 7. After that date call the box office at 452-4950.

For reservations (before July 7) or for further information, call 921-3682.

Five New Plays Set By Crossroads Theatre

The 1989-90 season for Crossroads Theatre Company will be made up of premieres and works-in progress.

Five new plays will debut next season with runs of 3½ to 5½ weeks. A two-week run next March will be devoted to "Genesis," Crossroads' first new-play festival. "Genesis" will afford playwrights an opportunity to present new works in staged readings on the mainstage. The festival, to be presented on a rotating schedule, will be free to subscribers.

Post-performance discussions with the cast and director will follow Friday and Saturday night previews and all "Genesis" readings. The discussions will give audiences the opportunity to participate in the creation of a new play through their comments and suggestions. In order to assist play development, the number of preview performances has been increased from three to eight next season.

Sheila's Day, the first production in September, will mark the first time that a bi-continental cast of South African and American actors will be assembled in a play with music and dance. It will be directed by Mbongeni Ngema, author of Sarafina! and one of the authors of Woza Albert! which was produced at Crossroads during the 1987-88 season.

Sheila's Day is by Duma Ndolovu, who directed Woza Albert! at Crossroads. Its title refers to the weekly day off of domestic workers in South Africa, commonly called "Sheila's Day." The play is currently in development in New York.

George C. Wolfe, author of Colored Museum, will return to Crossroads with a new folk drama, Dork Town Blues. Playwright Leslie Lee, whose play, First Breeze of Summer, was Crossroads' first production in 1978, will bring a work specially commissioned by the company to the mainstage for Black History Month in February. Lee's Black Eagles is based on World War II's black fighter pilot squadrons, known as the Tuskegee Airmen.

For its traditional holiday musical, Crossroads will present a work by Don Evans, whose mystery-comedy, Spooks, has just been on the mainstage. One of Mr. Evans' musicals, Mahalia or Louis, will be performed December 23 through January 28.

Tad, The Boy, Tad, the season finale, will mark the Crossroads' debut of playwright Talvin W. Wilks, who also serves on the company's administrative staff as grants coordinator. Mr. Wilks began writing plays while a student at Princeton University. His first work, Incubus: An American Dream Play, was produced at the Edinburgh Festival in Scotland and premiered in New York this year.

Five Concerts Planned By Princeton Ballet

The Princeton Ballet will present its fifth repertory season June 22 through 25 as part of Rutgers SummerFest '89.

The dance company will present its entire current repertory of 18 ballets in five concerts at the George Street Playhouse, part of the New Brunswick Cultural Center complex on Livingston Avenue.

The Princeton Ballet will be featured in three evening and two matinee programs. On Thursday, June 22, at 8 the program will include Antony Tudor's Cereus; John Butler's Romeo and Juliet to the mu-

On Friday, June 23, at 8 Stuart Sebastian's Mozart Dances, D-construction, a new ballet by Septime Webre; Jose Limon's The Moor's Pavane to music by Purcell; and Burke's Still Lifes will be performed. On Saturday, June 24, at 8, the program will be Reflections, a ballet by Gerald Arpino to music of Tchaikovsky; Short Symphony to Copland by Jeff Satinoff; and Burke's Evening Dances.

Matinee programs are on Saturday, June 24, at 2 when Sebastian's Mozart Dances; Romance to music of Bolling and Trios to Prokofiev by Burke; and Caprice, a new ballet by William Whitener will be performed. On Sunday, June 25, at 3, Burke's Evening Dances, Whitener's Caprice and Arpino's Reflections are on the program.

Tickets are $15 for each concert. For information or to charge tickets by phone, call the Rutgers Arts ticket office, (201) 932-7511.

Registration Under Way For Summer Arts Camp

For the 17th consecutive summer, junior and senior high school students may enroll in Tomato Patch, an intensive three-week visual and performing arts summer camp at Mercer County Community College.

The program is divided into two three-week sessions. The first session, for students entering ninth through 12th grades in the fall, runs from June 26 through July 14. The second session, from July 17 through August 4, is for students entering the sixth through eighth grades in the fall. The cost of the program is $275, which includes a $25 nonrefundable application fee.

Visual arts students take classes in drawing and painting, video, three-dimensional design and ceramics.

Performing arts majors will take classes in foundations and performance, improvisation, ballet, musical theater, vocal ensemble, children's theater, jazz dance, acting and scene study, stage management and dance styles.

In order to produce a well-rounded artistic experience, all students are required to take one class outside of their major. The efforts of the students are showcased in an evening performance and art exhibition on the last day of each session. Performances take place in the college's Kelsey Theater, with the art exhibition in the theater lobby.

For more information call Randal Salewski at 586-4800, extension 588. Financial aid is available for those who qualify.

'Pajama Game' Auditions By Franklin Villagers

The Franklin Villagers Barn Theatre will hold open auditions for the musical comedy Pajama Game on Sunday, at 5 p.m and Monday at 7 p.m

Pajama Game has a book by George Abbott and Richard Bissell, music and lyrics by Richard Adler and Jerry Ross. The musical takes a humorous and tuneful look at the eternal battles between management, labor, and the sexes. The Sleep Tite Pajama Company is the setting, the 1950s is the time, and romance is in the air. The score features some of Broadway's most memorable songs, including "Steam Heat," "Hey There" and "Hernando's Hideaway."

Director Al Ksen is looking for a cast of 14 men and 14 women of various types and ages. Those auditioning are asked to prepare a song from the show, be familiar with the song "Once a Year Day," and be prepared for dance. They may also be asked to read from the script. A copy of the script and album will be on reserve at the Franklin Township Library adjacent to the theatre.

Performances of Pajama Game will begin Friday, August 11, and run through September 3 on Wednesdays, Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays at 8:30 and Sundays at 7:30. Rehearsals will be held primarily on weekday evenings and weekend days, three to four times a week. Auditions will be held at the Franklin Villagers Barn Theatre.

For further information, call (201)837-2710.

Space Still Available For McCarter Classes

Space is available in the McCarter Theatre intermediate and pre-Shakespeare classes this summer.

The intermediate class, for ages 7 to 9, meets from 12:30 to 2 and will introduce children to all facets of theatre using creative drama, theatre games and improvisation. Scenes and/or final production will be developed and performed on a final day of sharing for parents and friends.

The Pre-Shakespeare class, for ages 10 to 12, meets from 3 to 4:30 and introduces students to acting techniques, using improvisation, theatre games, and script work. A class production will be performed at the end of the session for parents and friends.

Both classes meet Tuesdays and Thursdays from July 5 through July 27, in the Broadmead Theatre. Tuition is $115 and enrollment is limited to 12 students per class. For more information, or to enroll a child, call 683-9100, extension 6021.

'Rapunzel' Is Readied By Hopewell Theater

Off-Broadstreet Theatre will continue its children's classics series with an adaptation of the Grimm Brothers fairy tale Rapunzel on Friday and Saturday, June 16 and 17.

"Rapunzel, Rapunzel, let down your long hair" will be the call of the audience, which is encouraged to participate and to supply sound effects. The production is geared to children age 2½ through 9

Performances are at 10 a.m. on Friday, June 16, and at 10:30 and 1 on Saturday. Admission is $3.50. For reservations call 466-2766. The theater is at 5 South Greenwood Avenue, Hopewell.

MUSIC

Jazz Pianist, Vocalist At McCarter This Friday

Harry Connick Jr., will perform at McCarter Theatre Friday, at 8. Ticket prices are $15, $16, $17, $18 and $21.

Mr Connick's concert will be the season opener of McCarter's "Just Jazz" series — eight artists on eight summer nights. Others scheduled to appear throughout the summer include Branford Marsalis, Wynton Marsalis, Nancy Wilson, Pat Metheny, Sonny Hollins, Freddie Hubbard and Betty Carter.

Since the release of his two albums for Columbia Records — Harry Connick, Jr. and 20 — Mr Connick's reputation has spread far beyond his home town of New Orleans. At the age of 21, this talented jazz pianist/vocalist possesses a musical track record that many artists his senior would envy. He has appeared in concerts with Branford Marsalis at Town Hall in New York and the Roxy in Los Angeles; Stan Getz at the Berklee Performance Center in Boston; and with Sonny Rollins at Wolf Trap in the Washington, D.C. area, among others.

Earlier this year, he had a four-week engagement at the venerable Oak Room in New York's Algonquin Hotel, which was the springboard for Michael Feinstein's rapid rise to fame. While many critics tend to compare the two, there is actually no comparison to be made. Mr. Connick's honky-tonk instincts are in sharp contrast to the more romantic Feinstein approach.

Mr. Connick was surrounded by the area's various musical styles, including stride, bebop, rhythm and blues, Dixieland and honky-tonk. In addition he listened intently — and still does — to the recordings of Thelonious Monk, Art Tatum, Errol Garner and Louis Armstrong. One of his strongest influences was his jazz teacher at the New Orleans Center for Creative Arts, Ellis Marsalis, father of Wynton and Branford.

For tickets and information call the box office at 683-8000, Monday through Friday, 9 to 6.

Summer Concerts Listed At the Choir College

Westminster Choir College will present six weeks of performances and musical events this summer beginning Sunday, June 18.

Featuring individual recitals, choral concerts and sing-ins, the series is open to the public at no charge. Unless otherwise noted, all performances are held in air-conditioned Bristol Chapel on the Westminster Choir College campus.

Highlights of the series are recitals by several members of the faculty of Westminster Choir College or Westminster Conservatory, the community music school of the college. Joan Lippincott, head of Westminster's organ department, will perform at 7 p.m. Monday, June 19, and Monday, July 17, at Trinity Church, 33 Mercer Street. Several faculty members will join in a performance of The Secular Songs from the Spanisches Liederbuch of Hugo Wolf Wednesday, June 28, at 8:30 p.m.

Jazz pianist and composer Laurie Altman will perform Sunday, July 2, at 8:30. Mr Altman will perform again Thursday, July 20, at 7. He will be joined by soprano Judith Nicosia in a performance of his own works as well as those of Hoiby and others.

Harry Connick Jr.

Guitarist Robert Trent will perform Thursday, July 6, at 7 p.m. Elem Eley will perform Schumann's Dichterliebe Tuesday, July 11, at 6:30 p.m. Duo-pianists Phyllis Alpert Lehrer and Ena Bronstein Barton will perform Monday, July 24, at 7 p.m.

Popular among music lovers are the weekly Hymn Sings and Summer Sings in which the audience is invited to participate. This year's Hymn Sing conductors include hymn writers Carl Schalk and Jaroslav Vajda; John Bertalot, director of music at Trinity Episcopal Church; and Alice Parker, composer and arranger.

Among this year's Summer Sing conductors are Lynne Hansom, who will conduct Mozart's Requiem; Frauke Haasemann, who will conduct Bach's Magnificot and Cantata No. 4, "Christ Lag in Todesbanden"; and Constantina Tsolainou, who will conduct Durufle's Requiem. Allen Crowell will conduct "Spring" and "Summer" from Haydn's The Seoson and Jon Bailey will conduct Brahms' Requiem.

For a complete schedule of all performances at Westminster Choir College this summer call 921-2663.

the Princeton University campus.

Headlining the concert will be the McCoy Tyner Trio. Mr. Tyner, a recent Grammy Award winner for his performance on the recording A Tribute to John Coltrane, is a jazz pianist who played with the John Coltrane Quartet and is known for his percussive style. Mr. Tyner has recently performed in New York City and Europe and is scheduled for three separate engagements at Carnegie Hall this year.

Opening the concert will be the George Coleman Quartet. Since the 1950's, Mr. Coleman's tenor sax has graced the recordings of B.B. King, Miles Davis (Seven Steps to Heaven), Herbie Hancock (Maiden Voyage), Charles Mingus and others. In 1972 Mr. Coleman formed his own quartet. Since then he has exhibited his style and virtuosity around the world.

Tickets may be purchased at the Richardson Auditorium box office, 452-5000, between 4 and 6, Monday through Friday.

Instrument Lessons Set For Young Band Players

Registration is being accepted for the West Windsor-Plainsboro summer band music program to be offered at the Middle School from June 26 to July 28.

Glenn Kaufmann, instrumental music teacher at the school, is offering private and small group lessons to students entering sixth, seventh and eighth grades, or high school bands; elementary school students who might forget important playing techniques over the summer; and all students who would like to enhance their musicianship and technical ability.

Lessons will be scheduled between 9 and 3 Monday through Friday. Scheduling preferences will be arranged on a first-come, first-served basis.

For more information, or to register, call the West Windsor-Plainsboro Community Education office, 452-2185.

American Choral Music Featured in Performance

Cantabile, a central New Jersey chorus under the direction of Rebecca Scott, will perform 19th- and 20th-century American music Sunday at 4 in the State Theatre, 19 Livingston Avenue, New Brunswick. The program is entitled "Sonic Explorations in American Sound."

The contemporary music on this program demonstrates the range of compositional styles used by Americans who create melodies to bring out the meanings of the words. For example, Peter Schickele (the "discoverer" of P.D.Q. Bach) has composed a setting of e. e. cummings' humorous poem, dominic hos a doll, to capture the childlike imagination of Dominic Depaola. Samuel Barber has reproduced the somber mood and shifting verbal rhythms of Emily Dickinson's poem Let down the bars, O Death.

Familiar to audiences will be the tunes Ring, Ring the Banjo, Shenandoah, Glendy Burk, O Susanna, and Goodbye, My Lover, Goodbye. Cantabile will sing these tunes in rhythmically inventive arrangements by contemporary musicians such as Robert DeCormier and Roger Wagner.

Tickets are $7, or $3 for senior citizens and students. They are available at the door or in advance by calling 247-1581. The concert willl take place in the Heldrich Room of the State Theatre.

Furnishings & Decorating From Nassau Interiors

"People are realizing that fine taste is affordable," says Laurie LaPlaca of Nassau Interiors. The long-time home furnishings and design store is truly a family operation. The tradition was established in 1942 when her father and the owner, Leonard LaPlaca, purchased the interior design shop, then on the corner of Nassau and Harrison streets, and later moved it to the present location at 162 Nassau Street. Her sister, Claudia LaPlaca, is the manager, and Laurie heads the interior decorating department.

"I have always been involved with decorating," she explains, "and it has always been a service of the store, but now we are expanding it. It has been my focus for a number of years, and now I'm working on it exclusively."

"I especially enjoy the challenges of either decorating an empty space or pulling together a room that has evolved over many years. The latter might need just the right treatment to give it a special look, but without changing or replacing all the existing furniture. We certainly don't have to buy all new things. You may want to move a piece of furniture from one room to another, for example. You can actually make a big impact in a very modest way. It doesn't have to be a large and expensive undertaking.

"I enjoy both residential and enmmercial decorating," she adds. "It's fun to decorate space for different use. You always have to take into consideration the way the space is to be used, and the image to be presented. It's important in a business office that when clients or customers come in, the image of the firm is properly presented. It should be fine quality in good taste and suitable for the kind of place it is."

Increased Interest. Miss LaPlaca reports that there has been an increased interest on the part of customers in decorating help. The growth of the area is one reason, she believes, and "also, with more couples both working, there is less time for personal decorating. Many clients now are couples who commute. They are often aware of the benefits of consulting a professional. When you invest your money in fine furniture or fabrics, it is important to have professional guidance. It makes a lot of sense."

Nassau Interiors has established a fine reputation over the years for providing a variety of decorating needs, she adds. "You'll find things here that are different and unusual. We have very beautiful fabrics and very comfortable upholstered chairs which include hand-tied coil spring construction.

"Sometimes people come in specifically for decorating help, and other times they'll come in for a sofa or lamp, and the decorating will stem from that," she explains. "It's important to note, too, that we purchase the furniture and fabrics direct from the manufacturers. We don't have to buy from interior decorating showrooms, so we can offer customers savings of up to 30%.

We have very competitive prices here. The same fine things that are found in the exclusive shops in New York or Philadelphia are available right here on Nassau Street. We have fabrics from Scalamandre, Brunschwig & Fils, and Clarence House as well as many other small exclusive fabric companies in all price ranges."

Proportion, Balance. When she undertakes a decorating project, Miss LaPlaca pays special attention to proportion and scale. "It's not so different from painting or drawing," she explains. "The two most important aspects are balance and proportion — and color, of course. When you're decorating, you first conceptualize a look and establish a theme. The decorator often tries to help clients interpret their own particular taste. You begin with a conceptual look for that room — color, draperies, how the room is to be used, whether there are children or pets, and budget, of course. You try to get to know the person/people and their lifestyle, and then establish a direction, refining it as you go along.

"Also," she adds, "I do a lot of my own work. I hand paint chandeliers and finials, and I've made valances. I'm very interested in details." Miss LaPlaca notes that the consultation fee will vary depending on the scope and complexity of the job.

Although decorating is her primary interest, she also wants to remind customers of the extensive range of furniture, furnishings, accessories and gifts at Nassau Interiors. "People tell us all the time that this is such a special store, that it is so unusual," she remarks. "We do have a unique collection of merchandise. We have hand-selected items that are well priced and the finest quality available.

"This is the season especially, when we want to let people know that we have wonderful gifts for special events — weddings, showers, anniversaries and graduations. We have a very fine range of items, including solid brass floor lamps, porcelain table lamps, such as the handpainted Nelson Lebo lamps which are a very popular wedding gift, and a variety of mirrors in many styles. Folding luggage racks are also popular.

"Lamps have always been a specialty for us," she continues," especially the Oriental porcelains. This is a very popular and timeless accessory, and these lamps can work well with the traditional interiors or with a very contemporary look. We also have a selection of beautiful Chinese porcelain plates, bowls and vases."

DEFT DECORATING: "Decorating has always been a part of our store's service, but we are emphasizing it more now." Laurie LaPlaca of Nassau Interiors is shown in one of the model rooms she recently decorated. "I was very proud to be selected to decorate the model for Governors Lane, a new community of townhouses in Princeton," she explains. "I did the entire house, except for one room which was purposely left undecorated. Most of the decorating elements are from Nassau Interiors — furniture, fabrics, wallpaper, etc., and we also incorporated antiques and Oriental rugs. I wanted to create a kind of Princeton look, very traditional and elegant."

Furniture is another big item at Nassau Interiors, and customers know they can count on the quality and durability. Comfortable, upholstered sofas and chairs have always been big sellers, notes Miss LaPlaca, and the Sealy sleep sofas, with inner spring mattress, are also popular and available for immediate delivery.

Artwork. Nassau Interiors carries a fine selection of artwork, which is geared to both home and executive office, she adds. "We not only provide items for people's homes, but we automatically become involved in their offices as well.

"Our artwork includes a wonderful collection of prints of traditional subject matter," she continues. "We have sporting prints of horses, polo and rowing scenes. We also have architectural prints and the Williamsburg hand-colored flowers of the month, as well as small botanicals for $25.

The store offers a full range of gift items and accessories for all occasions including charming Italian gold gilt mirrors for $40 and an extensive variety of brass pieces.

Prices cover a wide range, starting at $10 for small porcelain boxes and $20 for the Chinese porcelain plates. Brass doorknockers are $28 and up, luggage racks $49, floor lamps start at $100, sofa beds are $599 and up, and custom upholstered chairs begin at $400.

For 47 years, Princetonians have known they can look to Nassau Interiors for quality and service. "We have many customers of long standing," says Miss LaPlaca. "Now there are new generations coming in. We have people who come not only from Princeton and this area, but from New York, Pennsylvania and even Virginia. We look forward to continuing this association. It's the most rewarding and satisfying part of the business."

Nassau Interiors is open Monday through Friday 9 to 5:30, Thursday until 8 and Saturday 9 to 4

LADIES IN WAITING: "We really tried to focus on the woman who has a career but no appropriate clothes when she becomes pregnant," explains Meg Richter, regional manager of Mothers Work. "I think career clothing, work clothing was not addressed 10 years ago. We have done that, as well as offering a full range of maternity needs for women who are also at home."

Mothers Work the Source For Maternity Fashions

"It's really fun to be able to help people out. This is a happy time in their lives, and it's nice to be a part of it." Meg Richter, regional manager of Mothers Work, the maternity boutique and mail order operation, smiles as she considers the colorful range of fashions now available to moms-to-be.

"We opened in Princeton Forrestal Village in the fall of 1987 when the Village opened," she continues. "Our headquarters is in Philadelphia, and we now have 22 stores across the United States. We felt this would be an especially good location. There were customers here whose needs were not being addressed. There aren't many maternity shops in this area. Also, a lot of people here knew our name from the mail order catalogue and the Philadelphia store. There was definite name recognition."

Mothers Work began operation eight years ago, she recalls, in particular to fill the needs of the working woman who was expecting. The store still offers a full selection for the career woman, but it also carries a wide range of choices for a variety of women. In fact, points out Ms. Richter, the clothing is so appealing and stylish that Mothers Work has a faithful following of non-pregnant customers!

Suits, dresses, evening wear, blouses, slacks, shorts, sweaters, tops of all kinds (T-shirts, including nursing tops that look like T-shirts, polo shirts and full cut tunics), bathing suits and lingerie (nightwear, underwear and nursing gowns) are all available in a bright array of colors, styles and fabrics.

Customers, who generally range in age from 25 to 44, seem to like everything, reports Ms. Richter. "Suits have been very popular, and so has the coat dress. Also, the two-piece dress with fuchsia jacket has been a runaway best seller. Brights are always steady sellers, and fuchsia, especially, has been a very big color. Of course navy and white is always a classic color combination.

Classic Contemporary. "If anything, our look is classic contemporary," she continues. "We have both casual and dressy styles, and our sizes go from 4 to 14, from petites to large. We have a lot of fun things, but we don't consider ourselves out there being trendy. Hopefully, we have been instrumental in changing the look of maternity clothes in recent years, in offering more choices and variety. There is certainly much more in terms of choice and quality today."

Customer service and personal attention is also very important at Mothers Work, she notes, and a significant factor in the store's success. "We are very customer-oriented. This can be a confusing time for many people. The first-time mother can sometimes be a little bewildered and overwhelmed. We also do a lot of special orders, and we help people out with advice if they want it. Our manager, Juanita Powell, is always on hand to help out and assist customers."

Ms. Richter also points out that the clothing at Mothers Work is versatile and adaptable. Much of it can be used both before and after the big event. "We have skirts with adjustable waistbands," she explains, "and these can go to the fifth month. Then customers can get into the regular maternity skirts. Our clothes are definitely not just short term. Our blouses have adjustable bands with two sets of buttons at the bottom. They have a finished look and can be worn as an overblouse. Some also have elastic bands.

"Also," she adds, "people like to be comfortable now, and we have a lot of cottons, rayon blends and wool gabardine. We also offer a big selection of swimwear, including cotton, Lycra and nylon, in many styles and designs. Bathing suits are very popular and are an all-year item now. Many people swim at the Y in the winter and keep on exercising while pregnant."

Mothers Work also offers such accessories as pantyhose, body cream and an informative Maternity Calendar which makes an excellent gift for the expectant mother. It includes information about what to look for each month and even offers a maternity crosswrrd puzzle.

Mothers Work has its own label and manufactures 80% of the merchandise in the boutique. Prices range from $20 and up for T-shirts, $36 and up for blouses, $18 to $30 for shorts, $66 and up for pants, $75 to $130 for dresses, $42 to $58 for bathing suits and $150 for jackets. Gift certificates and gift boxes are available, and Ms. Richter also notes that a special June sale is in progress, with many reductions of 20% to 40%. "Just be sure to come early," she advises.

"I think the quality of the goods and the type of selection we offer, as well as our service, set us apart," she adds. "Our customers come from all the surrounding areas, and we hope to continue to grow the way we have been and to reach all the customers here.

"I think people have been so pleased and relieved to find a selection like ours," she continues. "And it is a challenge to meet the needs of our customers and offer them something special."

Shoppers at Mothers Work will surely be delighted with the small cozy shop and pleasant, congenial atmosphere as well as with the intriguing selection of merchandise.

The shop is open Monday through Saturday 10 to 7, Thursday until 9 and Sunday 12 to 6.

In Computer Billing Era Keeping Receipts Vital

To the Editor of Town Topics:

My letter has to do with computer billing.

Very recently I received a mysterious bill from our local medical service. When I telephoned and questioned the bill, there was no evidence I owed any money. Computer mistake I was told

About two years ago a bill from a local legal firm arrived. When I telephoned and questioned the bill, wrong information had been fed into the computer I was told.

An area department store sent me an incorrect bill. I asked the store to check my original order and their own records. Our mistake, I was told; it was a computer error.

In making a pledge to a PBS television station, I was sent a card showing my pledge to be 400% more than I had agreed to. Solving this problem took many months but it was wrong information put into the computer that started the whole mess.

All of these examples of computer billing problems were corrected and I did not have to pay. It is important for us to keep records and check stubs and to speak out if you think there has been a mistake.

School Board Is Urged To Reconsider Tenure

To the Editor of Town Topics:

The failure to grant tenure to Gail Edwards of the Princeton High School music department, and the events surrounding this, have been described by a member of the Princeton School Board as "a mess." We agree, and would ask you to inform your readers of this unfortunate situation.

Gail Edwards has received consistently high praise ever since she was hand-picked by Portia Sonnenfeld during her last days to pick up Portia's baton and her well-loved students. Since then, Mrs. Edwards has earned the overwhelming approval of her colleagues on the High School faculty. More to the point, she has the complete support of her orchestra, many of whose members have played at Carnegie Hall, sung in Notre Dame, and know more about music than most of us ever hope to know. Over 250 students in the High School have petitioned the Board to retain Mrs. Edwards. Letters commending her have come from throughout the Princeton musical community.

Mrs. Edwards has been recognized by both her audiences and her supervisors as a talented musician and a dedicated teacher. Her written evaluations have been uniformly laudatory, and her colleagues and supervisors had assured her that tenure would be forthcoming. Then, a month ago, virtually at the 11th hour, and contrary to usual procedure, tenure was denied

Since then, the Board has presented Mrs. Edwards with three trumped-up charges concerning her suitability, not one of which was ever mentioned in her glowing evaluations during the three years she has taught at PHS. We question the reasons for this change, and who was responsible for it. And we do this in the interest of Mrs. Edwards's many inspired students at the High School

Having served on the boards of two Princeton schools, (PDS and the Princeton Friends School), and on the Parents Council, we are aware of the power and responsibilities we vest in our school boards. Two of these responsibilities are: to never make arbitrary and capricious decisions, i.e., "throw our weight around"; and to leave the teaching and administration to the professionals trained for those purposes.

We appeal to the Princeton School Board not to transgress these principles. We urge them, knowing of their expressed concern for the music program, to reconsider their decision. The Princeton community would congratulate and applaud them for doing so. And we appeal to your readers, the School Board's constituents, to write or call their elected School Board members urging such a just and responsible decision.

State Acquisition Needed For White Farm Lands

To the Editor of Town Topics:

As you are aware, Judge Eugene Serpentelli has approved the White Farm as an affordable housing site. He says, however, that "the court would like to see this area preserved and urges further consideration [of acquisition] by the State or other appropriate agencies..."

Judge Serpentelli's opinion emphasizes the significance of the White Farm for its role in the 1777 Battle of Princeton and as part of the 17th-century Quaker settlement known as Stony Brook. He also takes note of the environmental constraints on the Farm's development. Because of these historic and environmental issues, the Friends of Princeton Open Space has been concerned with the White Farm litigation for over five years.

We strongly agree with Judge Serpentelli that "any development [of the White Farm] degrades the integrity of the area and diminishes its historic value." While an effort has been made to create a site plan which minimizes this degradation, the planned 240 market units will inevitably have an overwhelming impact. Friends of Princeton Open Space believes that it is imperative to preserve as much of this historic site as possible while moving forward with needed affordable housing.

Part of the White Farm has long been listed on the State and Federal registers of Historic Places. The State Review Board for Historic Sites entered the remainder on the State Register on April 10, 1989. Its recommendation has been forwarded to the National Park Service for inclusion in the National Register

It appears now that the only means of actual preservation left — and by far the most appropriate one, in light of the recently demonstrated historic significance of most of the White Farm — would be direct State acquisition of land and its addition to the Princeton Battlefield State Park with funds from the bond issue to be voted on this fall

As Governor Kean has said of the White Farm, we must not let a developer do what the British Army never could: take this historic land from us. We pledge to work with all parties involved to enlist the assistance of other organizations to help the State with purchase of the land and to ensure that Princeton's commitment to affordable housing will still be met. Please support us in this effort to preserve New Jersey's history and a vital portion of our nation's as well.

Van Dyke-Wight Land Should Be Left Alone

To the Editor, Town Topics:

It has been proposed that the Van Dyke-Wight property (bordering Snowden Lane and Dodds Lane) in Princeton Township be developed as soccer fields and/or a grade school. I would like to urge the Princeton Township Committee to leave this Green Acres site in its present state for passive recreation and not alter it in any way.

This property is not suitable for soccer fields. It is largely wetlands and is heavily wooded. The water table in the neighborhood is very high and the trees on the site in question help to hold back water which would otherwise flood our basements.

In addition, the land is comprised of shale which makes it an extremely poor choice for athletic fields. It is not economically sound to have to spend several million dollars to develop this property when there are other sites which could be converted to soccer fields at far less expense to the taxpayers.

The choice of this location for a school is most unwise since Littlebrook School is a scant one-half mile away and is very much underutilized. The Van Dyke-Wight land should be preserved for passive recreation. We have to keep some open space for the good of everyone.

Who Is Determining Princeton's Character?

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Curbs, sidewalks, roadblocks and mansions; who is creating the image of Princeton, carefully manipulating the sort of folk who live here? While we have all felt the frustration of mastering the maze of closed roads, have we stopped to think on the pattern of the building?

Nassau Street is torn up root and branch, so that our merchants suffer badly, even on one of their most busy weekends, Reunions. On the fringes of Princeton, forests are razed to make room for huge mansions with exorbitant prices

Authorities bow to the rich and place a "road closed" sign on Pretty Brook Road so the ensconced residents do not have to deal with the overflow of traffic from Carter Road. Of course, the interest of The Great Road residents was not considered. And lastly, the curbs of the wealthy neighborhoods of western Princeton are being replaced with handsome granite, like that being put on Nassau Street.

We must ask ourselves to what extent we will let ourselves be bought out by the rich, who seem to think that a Princeton address gives an added title, something like a smart "Esq." It is obvious from the pattern of building and the attitude of local leaders that Princeton would become a quaint sanctuary for the owners of million dollar homes.

If we have an historical elitist reputation, why do we feel compelled to enhance it? Surely if we felt moved, we could change this, but, I suppose, the question is whether we feel moved

Clubs and Organizations

The Central New Jersey Chapter of The American Jewish Committee (AJC), The Jewish Center, and the Women's Division of Princeton Area United Jewish Appeal will cosponsor a meeting on "The Impact of Current Stereotypes of Jewish Women" on Wednesday, June 21, at 7:30 p.m. at the Jewish Center. Linda Greenman, national coordinator of women's issues for the AJC, will be the featured speaker.

"No one disputes the fact that humor is psychologically healthy — a safety valve at times, as well as a sign of both individual and collective maturity. But something different is happening today, and it isn't benign or healthy. The 'JAP' joke has driven a wedge between Jewish men and Jewish women, and has now become an acceptable vehicle for non-Jews to express anti-Semitism," said AJC Women's Issues co-chairmen, Andrea Rosenberg and Donna Tehel.

Most psychologists agree that both jokes and stereotypes usually have a hidden purpose, and it is sometimes a deadly one. The community is invited to attend this meeting to hear what researchers report is happening when Jewish women are turned into cartoons.

The Griggstown Historical Society will hold its sixth annual Strawberry Festival on Saturday from 5 to 8 p.m. at the one-room school house behind Griggstown Reformed Church on Canal Road.

The "Everything Strawberry" sale will feature strawberry shortcake with whipped cream, home-made cheesecakes, pies, tarts, jam, preserves, hand-dipped chocolate-covered strawberries, fresh strawberries sold by the quart or pint, and strawberry punch.

The Friends of the Plainsboro Free Public Library will sponsor their second annual art auction on Friday evening, June 16, at the Merrill Lynch Conference and Training Center, 800 Scudders Mill Road, Plainsboro. Proceeds will be used to fund expanded programs and services at the library.

A preview of the art will take place from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. There will be complimentary cheese, crackers and fruit, as well as a cash bar. The auction will begin at 7:30.

Tickets are $5 in advance or $8 at the door. They may be purchased at the library, 506 Plainsboro Road, from a Friend of the Library, or at the door. For further information call 799-5178.

The Soroptimist Club will install its new board at its June 20 dinner meeting at the Nassau Club.

The club's new president is Debbie Douglas, an executive with Equitable Insurance. Vice presidents are Polly Siegel, publishing, and Sue Steele, a librarian at Mercer County Library. Susan Dudley of Merrill Lynch will continue as treasurer.

ART

Photographs of Plants At Watershed Ass'n.

"Nature Revered," a photographic exhibition by Ken Kaplowitz, is on view at the recently opened Environmental Awareness Center at the Stony Brook-Millstone Watershed Association. The exhibition will continue through July 15.

Mr. Kaplowitz's black and white photographs are concerned with the field and woodland plants found in central New Jersey. With an emphasis on detail and a close-up perspective, the plants emerge from black backgrounds into a revealing white light.

Mr. Kaplowitz has collected plant species throughout the year and photographed them with a 4x5 camera.

He has been professor of art for 19 years at Trenton State College, and is the coordinator of the photography program. His many photographic exhibitions include the New Jersey State Museum, Amerika House in Frankfurt, Germany, and AT&T.

NEW JERSEY CAN BE BEAUTIFUL: Photographs by Ken Kaplowitz emphasizing details of plants found in central New Jersey are on display at the Stony Brook Watershed's Environmental Awareness Center.

Show hours are 10 to 5 Wednesday through Saturday. The Stony Brook-Millstone Watershed Association is a 585-acre nature preserve located on Titus Mill Road in Pennington. Call 737-3735 for more information.

Fund Raising Under Way For Soviet Art Exchange

Johnson and Johnson, the Snros Foundation, and numernus individuals have contributed nearly $25,000 of $41,000 needed to finance the first year of the artists' exchange program between the Trenton Artists Workshop Association (TAWA) and the Union of Soviet Artists. TAWA is a nonprofit group of several hundred artists in New Jersey and eastern Pennsylvania.

The exchange, which will feature both artists and exhibitions, begins on June 30 with a one-month visit by six Soviet artists. A public reception for the artists will be held at Ellarslie, the Trenton City Museum, on July 1 from 7 to 9 p.m.

Program planning began last summer after a protocol was signed by Trenton Mayor Arthur Holland, entrepreneur Shelly Zeiger, and Tair Salakhov, chairman of the Union of Soviet Artists.

Contributions to the exchange are fully tax-deductible. Checks should be made out to TAWA/TSEC and sent to P.O. Box 969, Trenton 08605. For more information call Gary Saretzky, chairman, TAWA Soviet Exchange committee, 392-4484.

Exhibits

An exhibition of Gilda Aronovic's recent paintings will be shown at the John T. Henderson real estate office, 37 West Broad Street, Hopewell, from June 12 to July 31. A reception for Ms. Aronovic will be held on Sunday from 5 to 7 p.m. The public is invited.

Gilda Aronovic

Ms. Aronovic has exhibited in many area juried shows and has won awards for her still life and abstract paintings. She is a real estate broker with John T. Henderson in Princeton.

Wood engravings by Anne Steele Marsh will he exhibited in Conant Hall, Lounge "B," Educational Testing Service, frnm June 3 through July 6.

Many of this New Jersey artist's detailed carvings portray coastal scenes of New England fishing villages and boat houses.

Gallery hours are Monday through Friday from 9 to 4.

A one-person exhibition of the work of Summit photographer Anne Ross will open at the New Jersey State Museum on June 17, and continue through July 23. The exhibition will consist of approximately 40 cibachrome prints, ranging in imagery from landscapes to commercial life.

A graduate of Smith College and a student at the Maine Photographic Workshop and the Rochester Institute of Technology, Ms. Ross has been involved with photography for more than 20 years.

Ms. Ross's recent shows include a one-person exhibition at the Swain Galleries in Plainfield, an invitational at the Nabisco Brands Gallery in East Hanover, and a group exhibition at the Schering-Plough Corporation in Madison.

On Saturday, Artworks/Trenton will open a new exhibit, Directors' Choice, with an open house and an opportunity to meet the artists. The open house will be held from 12 to 4 p.m. Guests may meet the artists at 2.

Eight New Jersey artists, chosen by the directors of the major art museums in New Jersey, will show works ranging from color photographs and painting to mixed-media sculpture.

The artists are: Bill Barrell, Willie Cole, Clyde Lynds, Edward Matalon, Winifred McNeill, Kon-Su Nam, Linda Swanson, and Krista Van Ness.

The Artworks gallery is located at 19 Everett Alley, just opposite the Market Street exit of Route 1, in Trenton. Gallery hours are Tuesday through Saturday, 11 to 5 p.m.

Princeton Day School's Liz Bylin Named An All-American in Lacrosse as a Junior

Liz Bylin, who at first had to be talked into playing varsity lacrosse at Princeton Day School by her coach Kim Bedesem, has been named a high school all-American in the sport.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur M. Bylin, Audubon Lane, she earned the distinction as a junior, a rare accolade indeed. Just three other girls in the State from public or private schools — all seniors — were given the honor.

Bylin got her first taste of lacrosse early on, playing catch on the beach at the Jersey shore with her two older brothers, Eric and John, who played the sport at PDS. Eric was also an all-American selection in his senior year in 1985, when the Panthers had the best boys' team in the State.

She played the sport in her 7th- and 8th-grade years at PDS, and made the jayvee team as a 9th grader. Along the way Bylin also did well in field hockey in the fall and ice hockey in the winter, and made the varsity in both sports as a sophomore.

Lack of Confidence. When it came time to try out for the varsity lacrosse team in the spring, Bylin, wasn't certain she was ready.

"She didn't want to play lacrosse, because she didn't think it would be fun," Bedesem commented recently. "She knew how much talk there was about scoring goals, and this turned her off. She also was not that confident in her abilities."

Bylin admits her lack of confidence at the beginning, and that she wasn't wild about playing defensive center, the position she had played on the jayvees. But Bedesem, who says she always believed in Bylin's skills, convinced her to give it a try.

Last year Bylin worked mainly on her defense as the team's center, honing those skills to Bedesem's satisfaction. She scored occasionally when the situation presented itself, but concentrated mainly on defense. The Panthers struggled that year, finishing 8-7-1.

Liz Bylin
She'll Be Back Next Year

"We Needed Her to Score." This spring, if her team was to improve, Bedesem knew it needed more offensive thrust. "This year, I had to teach Liz we needed her to score," Bedesem said. "She has always been a team player from the word go, and has not been in it for the glory.

"It's very difficult to ask somebody to do both parts (offense and defense) of a game. It's tough for an experienced player to do, but Liz realized it was something we needed and that she could contribute on attack when we needed her to.

"There are times to pass and times to go to goal, and you have to do it at top speed, and make the right decision each time. There is not just one rule of thumb to follow, but Liz was able to catch on quickly."

Bedesem taught Bylin a variety of shots, and she quickly put them to use. Bedesem credits her junior center with consistently coming up with the clutch goal, the one that changed the momentum of a close game in the Panthers' favor. She finished the season with 30 goals and 15 assists.

That brought her the team's most valuable player award, shared with Alicia Collins, and it also helped Princeton Day to an 11-4 mark. The Blue and White came close to regaining the Prep A title, but lost to the eventual champion, Dwight Englewood, 13-12 in double overtime.

Bedsem compares Bylin favorably with some of the other fine players who have played for her in recent years. One of the most recent was Becca Royal two years ago, who also played the center position. Another was Princeton Day's last all-American before Bylin, Karen Callaway, who graduated from the school in 1984.

Two others have achieved all-American status. Jessie Drezner was a first-team selection in 1982, and Suzie Haynes was honorable mention that same year.

Repeating as an all-American may be harder for Bylin than making it this year. She'll draw the full attention of every PDS opponent next spring. But as a team player she will probably be happier if the Panthers can regain the Prep A title they won for seven consecutive years from 1981-87.

One of the strangest games ever played by major league baseball teams was an unusual "three-team game" on July 26, 1944 ... Three big league teams played each other in that one game ... The Yankees, Giants and Dodgers all met in New York for a game to raise money for War Bonds during World War II ... The three teams kept rotating at bat and in the field, with one team taking turns sitting out ... Each team wound up playing 6 innings ... Final score was Dodgers 5, Yanks 1, Giants 0 ... The game drew 50,000 spectators.

Ever wonder why there are indentations, or dimples, on a golf ball? ... The reason is that a golf ball, being so small, would be more easily driven off course by wind if it weren't for the indentations ... The indentations tend to keep the ball straighter in flight.

PDS All-Stars Selected

Ten Princeton Day lacrosse players, five girls and five boys, have been named to all-star teams by vote of their leagues' coaches.

The NJISAA girls "A" first team includes Alicia Collins on offense, and Carrie Regan and Liz Bylin on defense. Jenny Myers and Ani Tilden were named to the second team on offense and defense.

For the boys, junior Chris Lake was a first-team selection for the Bianchi League. He led PDS in scoring with 27 goals and 18 assists. Second team picks included three seniors: Will Fisher on defense, Jeff Zawadsky at midfield, and attackman Andy Dykstra.

Dykstra followed Lake in scoring with 38 points, 27 goals and 11 assists, and Zawadsky had 20 points, 11 goals and nine assists. Senior Hardy Royal, who finished with 22 points, seven goals and 15 assists, received honorable mention.

PHS's Marseille Repeats As 110 Hurdles Champion

For the second consecutive year, Princeton High senior Wagner Marseille has won the Group 2 110 high hurdles in the NJSIAA State groups track and field championships held Saturday at South Plainfield.

Marseille was fourth in the field until the sixth hurdle but recovered by the tenth to win in 14.17. By winning, he became eligible to compete in the Meet of Champions this Wednesday in South Plainfield, where an overall State champion in each event will be crowned.

Marseille has been pointing to a head-to-head meeting with Gerald Reynolds of Willingboro who has been the premier hurdler in the area. Reynolds won the Group 3 hurdles the same day with a time of 13.88. "It feels good to win again but it will feel a lot better if I win next week," said Marseille after his triumph. "I've been concentrating on Reynolds. I was under 14 seconds in the trials but he's been at 13.8."

If there were no Bryan Spoonire, Marseille's teammate Jerod Neas would also be wearing the laurels of a champion.

For the fourth time in the past two weeks, Neas finished second to Spoonire, the standout distance runner from Asbury Park, in the 3200 meter run. Neas, who will also compete in the Meet of Champions, was timed in 9:33.35 to Spoonire's 9:22.38.

———

Anyone else but Neas would have been happy with his time. "I've seen this picture before," sighed Neas. "I ran terribly. I can't figure out why I am running so badly. I wish I could do better."

Princeton High tied Asbury Park to finish fifth in the team standings in the Group 2 competition with 17 points. Salem edged out Kingsway, 28½ to 27½, to win the team title.

Wolinetz, Ringland Advance. Jen Wolinetz and Kesti Ringland will advance to the Meet of Champions from the PHS girls' squad.

Wolinetz was timed in 1:00.37 in the 400 to finish second to Northern Burlington's Camille Williams, who won the event in

Tara Shingle

59:45. Although disappointed in her efforts, Ringland finished fourth in the 200 meter dash and fifth in the 100. Her times were 26.48 and 12.78.

———

Princeton's team of Wolinetz, Caty Willard, Julie Nelson and Nicole Klein also qualified for the Meet of Champions by finishing third in the 1600 relay with a clocking of 4:13.69, less than six seconds behind first-place Englewood.

In the team standings, PHS finished fifth. Its outstanding distance runner, Karin Swartz, did not compete because of a heel injury.

Leschly Is Upset Victim In Tennis Singles Event

In the third round of the NJSIAA State boys' singles tennis tournament, Princeton High junior Nick Leschly, seeded in the 9th-16th grouping, faced an unseeded freshman from Christian Brothers Academy with a cannonball serve. The cannonball won, 6-2, 7-5.

The owner of the big serve, John Costanza, had won his first two matches on Saturday at Veterans Park, 6-1, 6-1 and 6-0, 6-0. Leschly was equally impressive in blanking David Cook of Mountain Lakes, 6-0, 6-0, in the first round and stopping Calvin Eng of West Orange, 6-0, 6-3, in the second.

On Sunday at Mercer Park, Costanza — who led CBA to the State parochial team championship — got Leschly's attention early when he broke him in the opening game. "I was up for the match. He was seeded and I knew he would be tough," said Costanza later.

When the PHS junior attempted to even the match at 3-3, Costanza ripped off four unreturnable serves. "I couldn't really deal with his serve," admitted Leschly.

In the second set, however, Leschly began to hit his strokes and was able to handle Costanza's serve, in breaking out to a 3-1 lead. But Costanza immediately got back in contention by sweeping the next four games to take a 5-4 lead.

———

Leschly tied it at 5-5, taking the crucial game when he won the fourth deuce, as both players, feeling the pressure, were guilty of unforced errors.

After Costanza went up 6-5, Leschly faced match point in the next game. Four times he evaded elimination. On Constanza's fifth serve, Leschly charged the net and tried to pass his younger opponent but Costanza rifled a shot pass him for the match.

For Leschly it was a repeat of last year in the same tournament when he was eliminated in the third round. "I hate losing," said Leschly after the match. "But this will teach me a lesson. It will push me."

Leschly, whose only previous loss this year was a 6-3, 5-7, 0-6 loss to Moorestown's Mike Sell, commented that he has another year to try again but he left no doubt that he had hoped to advance to meet one of the top-seeded players.

Bruce Haddad of Ocean Township is the top seed in the tournament. Sean Steinour of Vineland is seeded second and Sell third.

Pacers Win State Title Paced by Tara Shingle

Tara Shingle, a sixth grade student at Chapin School, has led the Pacers National Tournament Team to the New Jersey state championship in the National AAU Junior Olympics Basketball Tournament.

The Pacers are a group of 11 and 12-year-old girls recruited by coach Frank Shingle, Tara's father, from communities across the state. Averaging nearly 50 points a game, they won the state title recently at the Rutgers Prep court.

The Pacers will fly to New Orleans on June 15 to compete against winners from other states to determine a national champion. To prepare, the team is practicing in the Princeton area on Saturdays at the Princeton YMCA against teams comprised of 13-15-year olds and on Sundays at the Princeton Day School gym.

A point guard, Tara averaged 16 points per game in a 23-game regular season against public, private and parochial schools from around the state as a member of the Pacers's 6-7-8th grade traveling girls' basketball team.

Coach Shingle reports that the team is trying to raise every dollar it can for the one-week tournament in Louisiana but is coming up short. Contributions are being sought, he said. Recent commitments have come from the N.J. Bell Telephone Company and from Princeton Business Brokers, Inc.

For more information about the team or for contributions, call Mr. Shingle at 683-9453.

PUT OUT BY PETRONE: Shortstop Scott Petrone makes the tag on a sliding Tim Van Dyke of Hopewell Valley for final out in third inning, but HV came from behind in later innings for a 14-9 victory.

Long Season Is Over For Little Tiger Nine

The long season of the Princeton High baseball team ended last week as it began — with a loss.

Under the lights at Mercer Park Thursday evening, the Little Tigers bowed, 15-5, to Ewing. Once again — and it is uncanny how often it happened this season — a big first inning did PHS in. Ewing scored eight runs in the opening frame to post its 11th triumph.

First-year PHS coach Larry Mansier reported that he talked to veteran Ewing coach Andy Greener (28th season) after the game and Greener told him, "You guys would be great without the first inning."

The previous afternoon, in its final home appearance, PHS had erupted for eight runs in the third inning — its biggest inning of the season — to take a 9-5 lead over favored Hopewell Valley. But, again, the PHS mound staff was unable to hold the lead and PHS went on to lose, 14-9.

"My stomach was in knots when I came home," recalled Mansier. "Not because we lost but because we let it get away. Out of the whole bunch, that was the one that hurt the most."

The Little Tigers finished 1-19. "I lost track after 12," quipped Mansier.

The lone triumph for the Blue and White was a one-hit, 2-0 shutout over Hun School in the opening round of the Mercer County tournament. The year before, the Little Tigers won only two games in 21 starts.

Although this team was a failure in the win column, it was a winner in another way: there was never any finger-pointing; the players were supportive of each other till the end.

"The players were still cheering like mad after the end of the game," said Mansier. "The team has been very supportive. They haven't sniped at one another. I hope it's something that Jason (assistant coach Jason Petrone) and I brought to the team.

———

"They're already talking about next year," Mansier continued. "They know that we need pitching. The feeling is that next year will be something."

Mansier loses only two to graduation: infielder Tim Middleton, who missed three games with an injury, and relief pitcher-outfielder Jason Plaks.

———

"We've got the fielders. We've got the hitters. All we need is to get the pitchers," said Mansier.

"I'm going to have to pick out some young fellows with live arms and say, 'Look, you've been here. You know what the problem is. You're going to have to practice pitching every day.'"

Grand Slam. Against Ewing, which had defeated Hamilton earlier the same day, PHS starting pitcher Dan Reed struck out the first batter he faced but then proceeded to walk the next four. Mansier called on freshman Ben Stentz, but with one out, Ewing's No. 8 batter connected for a grand slam.

Stentz stayed in the game and pitched well after that, lasting four innings. Another freshman pitcher, Chris Healey, also got a chance to pitch in the game. Scott Petrone doubled for PHS as the losers plated five runs. Petrone also had a pair of doubles and a single in Princeton's previous outing, "so Scott was on a roll at the end," commented Mansier.

11 Hits, Nine Runs. Against Hopewell last week, PHS banged out 11 hits and scored nine runs — a combination guaranteed to win most games — but this is a team that had surrendered 21 runs to Lawrence the week before and on seven occasions gave up 14 or more runs.

After wasting a leadoff double by Petrone, PHS scored one run in the second when Dave Long roped a liner to center to score Dan Page in the second. For their part, the 15-5 Bulldogs had scored five runs off starter Luis Estrada and reliefer Don DiDonato before PHS rallied for eight runs in the third.

The Hopewell batsmen continued, however, to tee off against the PHS pitching, collecting 14 hits, including three by second baseman Mark Gola.

Mansier brought Estrada back ("I figured what have I got?") as HV tied the score at nine with four runs in the fourth, added a go-ahead run in the fifth and sealed the outcome with four more runs in the seventh off Plaks, who took the loss.

Petrone had three hits in four at-bats and Long and second baseman Matt Baum had two each for PHS. Estrada and Page each rapped triples for the losers.

The season was a rough baptism for Mansier, who said that he is looking forward to next year. He added that he feels the team members are, too, "which is so important.

"They're aware that we need pitching. They are going to come in knowing what we have to do."

Ficarro's Wins Again To Improve to 5-3 Record

The Princeton-based Steve Ficarro's Auto Body women's softball team last week improved its record in the Mercer County Women's League to 5-3 with a 7-4 victory over Matt & Al's Stars.

Big hitters for Ficarro's were Robyn Hart (3-for4), Karen Sprague (2-for-2, two RBIs), and Doreen Ragazzo and Alison Aaron, each with two hits. Cindy Lombardo scored two runs, and shortstop Trish Kane had two putouts and three assists. Both Grace Durland and Dee Discavage delivered pinch-hit singles and scored. Clare Baxter was the winning pitcher.

Next for Ficarro's is a Thursday contest against Larkin's gulf at 6:30 on Field 3 at Mercer Park.

Hun's Faus Is Selected To Coach All-Star Team

Hun School lacrosse coach Dave Faus, whose Raiders have won 28 games the past two seasons, has been selected to help coach the North-South high school all-star team which will be part of the sixth annual Hall of Fame Lacrosse Classic Friday and Saturday at Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore. Featuring the top high school players from across the country, the North-South game will be played on Saturday at 4 p.m. and will be televised locally.

Faus, who guided Hun to the State championship in the Bianchi Division this spring, is the only coach from New Jersey at the Classic this year.

In addition to his coaching duties, Faus is also Dean of Students at Hun. As a member of The Hun School class of 1976, he was a standout lacrosse player for the Raiders.

After graduating from Kenyon College in Ohio, Faus returned to Hun in 1981. For several years, he was also the head wrestling coach there.

Schedule Listed by PCTP For Summer Programs

The schedule for the adult summer tournaments sponsored annually by Princeton Community Tennis Program has been announced.

Tournaments have A, B and C divisions and consolations for first-round losers. A is for players with a ranking of 4.5 and above, B is 3.5-4.0 and C is 3.5 and below. All matches will be the best of three sets and will be held at the Lenz Center on the Princeton University campus.

The men's singles (ABC) will start the week of June 10; women's singles (AB) the week of July 1; women's doubles (AB) the week of June 17, men's doubles (AB) the week of June 24, men's singles +45 and women's singles +45, both the week of July 1, and mixed doubles (ABC) the week of July 9.

Each tournament will begin on Saturday and end by the following Thursday. Entry forms and fees ($8 per person for singles, $12 per team) must be received by noon on the Thursday before the start of each tournament. The draw and schedule of matches will be available at the PCTP office, 759 State Road.

For further information, call 924-4343.

A free stroke clinic for players having problems with their stroke will be held Tuesday evening at 6 at the Community Park courts.

Al Burkhardt will try to remedy any stroke problems or bad habits through the use of video taping and evaluation. Call 924-3434 to reserve a spot.

Men's Summer Lacrosse

A men's summer lacrosse league for players in the ninth grade and above will be sponsored again this year by the Princeton Recreation Department.

Applications may be picked up at the Recreation Office, 380 Witherspoon Street.

Registration fee for the season, which starts June 27, is $15 for Princeton residents, $30 for nonresidents. Registration forms must be returned before June 24. For more information, call the Recreation Office at 921-9480.

Scrabis, Holleran Chosen As Top Tiger Athletes

Bob Scrabis and Demer Holleran were named the top male and female athletes at Princeton University in Class Day exercises held Monday.

Scrabis received the William W. Roper trophy for his outstanding contributions to the basketball team during his four years here. The captain of this winter's Ivy championship team, Scrabis scored 1,366 career points, fourth on the all-time University list.

He won all-Ivy honors all four years, and was named Ivy League Player of the Year as a senior. The 6'3 forward was praised by his coach Pete Carril, who commented: "From the day Bobby Scrabis walked onto this campus, he has given one of the highest levels of commitment to playing well as any kid we've ever had here. I'm so happy for Bobby we won the Ivy title this year.

"He gave the team the soul a champion needs."

Holleran, who spread her abilities among three sports, received the C. Otto von Kienbusch Sportswoman of the year award. The top woman's squash player in the country, Holleran won three national intercollegiate championships and led her Tiger team to the 1989 national title.

She also won two letters in field hockey and four in lacrosse. As the team's goalie this spring she was a major reason the Tigers advanced to the semi-finals of the NCAA championships.

"She was a great co-captain in that she constantly encouraged her teammates," said coach Betty Constable.

Three Track All-Americans. Three Tiger seniors finished among the top eight performers in their events at the NCAA championships at Provo, Utah, and came home with all-American honors.

Charles Forlidas, the University record-holder in the high jump, placed sixth with a leap of 7'3, a half-inch under his best jump. He was the Heptagonal champion, and finished third at the Penn Relays.

Joe Lemay ran a minute slower than his University record time of 28:59.9, but managed to finish eighth in the 10,000-meter run.

Laura Cattivera qualified in the 1500- and 3000-meter events, and placed fifth in the 3000. She will continue her running career in California, her home state.

Sports Awards Presented By Princeton Day School

Members of Princeton Day's spring sports teams were honored last week at awards ceremonies.

Alicia Collins and Carrie Regan shared the Gold P award, given to the outstanding girl athlete in the upper school. Amy Rosenfeld and Libby Swanke, eighth graders, shared the Silver P award.

In varsity lacrosse, Collins, and junior Liz Bylin were chosen as the team's most valuable players, and Nika Skvir was named most improved. Marcy Webster took MVP honors in jayvee lacrosse, and Jenifer Thompson was most improved. For the third team, Michelle Kornhauser was MVP and Danielle French, MIP.

Swanke was chosen most valuable among the Junior "A" players, while most improved honors went to Emily Miller. On the Junior "B" squad, Cynthia Shafto was most valuable and Anupa Shah, most improved.

"THE BARRACKS"

BUILT BY RICHARD STOCKTON IN THE LATE 1600's, The Barracks is thought to be the oldest house in Princeton. Occupied over the last half century by one Princeton family, The Barracks is a unique way of life in a most desirable and special setting amid rolling lawns and gardens. This historic house and its connected guest house/cottage contain more than 14 rooms on three floors. There are a number of fireplaces including one enormous one in the center of the main house. A splendid opportunity for the architectural connoisseur with a sense of history. Offered at ... $985,000

Constitution Hill
New Listing

"Constitution Hill" — a small group of elegant townhouses in western Princeton that offer a luxurious style of living free from many of the cares of a single home. Picturesque roads wind through century old trees formerly on the grounds of the historic mansion from which the area gets its name. Near the formal gardens of the mansion and not far from the pool and tennis court, this handsome brick house offers seclusion and generous space with all the amenities for pleasant living. The slate floored hall opens to the magnificent living-dining room with slate fireplace, soaring cathedral ceiling and a wall of glass doors overlooking the terrace and garden. The kitchen is superb with charming dining area. A luxurious master suite with huge bedroom, dressing room, bath and study/bedroom and bath complete the first floor. Upstairs — another suite with large bedroom, bath and loft/study. $590,000

TOWNHOUSE LIVING IN THE COUNTRY MANNER

Governors Lane offers you the best of both worlds – grand brick-and-stucco townhouses on a private, tree-lined country lane in Princeton.

Governors Lane is for today's active people who enjoy the serenity of country living but don't want the old-fashioned cares of a suburban house. It's for people who like rolling lawns but don't like mowing them.

The park-like setting offers pastoral beauty in a convenient location, near shopping and just five minutes from the center of Princeton. Governors Lane townhouses are full-sized houses up to 3,350 square feet, with four bedrooms and three and a half baths, plus full basement, two-car garage and walled private garden. There are five superb designs, all now available. Prices start at $415,000.

See why people are talking about our finished model (decorated by Nassau Interiors). Take Nassau Street to North Harrison, turn left, go one mile, then turn right on Terhune Road. Governors Lane is on your left.

Now is the time to talk to us . . . before everyone else does.

THAT RARE COMMODITY — A NEW CONTEMPORARY IN THE HEART OF PRINCETON/RIVERSIDE within walking distance of town, school and university. The construction is premium quality; the thoughtful floor plan is gracious and functional; and the two-level deck overlooks a pretty back yard. There are 4 bedrooms and 2½ baths, and lots of skylights. Come to see it soon while there's still time to choose colors and finishing touches. $495,000

IN A QUIET RESIDENTIAL AREA OF PRINCETON TOWNSHIP this three unit apartment house plus owner's studio gives the possibility of living rent free. Ideal for either a family with kids needing their own place or a young married couple not wanting the high monthly costs of living in Princeton. Two of the three apartments in the main house are sizeable (2 & 3 bedrooms) while the eagle's nest at the top is a real hideaway. The studio in the rear is large (1600 sq. ft.) and very rustic in a nice sense with a cathedral ceiling. Call today and see it before it's gone. $369,000

THIS CONTEMPORARY TWO LEVEL HOME overlooking Stony Brook has lots of room and a versatile floor plan. It has four to five bedrooms and three baths, and a beautiful private view. $439,000

A LOVELY CHERRYWOOD TOWNHOUSE WITH A PRINCETON ADDRESS in nearby Montgomery Woods. There are skylights, an open loft and special plantings. A two bedroom unit in all, the living room has a fireplace and the master suite has a spacious bath. Call today and see how convenient it is on this side of Route One to visit downtown Princeton. $145,000

THIS CHARMING HOME ON A TREE LINED STREET IS WITHIN WALKING DISTANCE OF THE UNIVERSITY AND TOWN. And situated on a professionally landscaped lot with a lovely rear garden backing on a park. Inside is a front-to-back living room, formal dining room and nice kitchen with warm wood cabinets. Upstairs are three bedrooms and a full bath. The family room in the basement has finished closets for extra storage. And yes, there is central air. Neat as a pin and ready for a new Princeton family who wants to walk to town and schools for a welcome change $219,000

ON THE PRINCETON RIDGE. Custom built, superbly designed, and private as can be, tucked in the woods on the Princeton Ridge on its own two acres, a unique contemporary with a flair. Enter through a glass enclosed skylighted foyer with huge stone wall to a spacious living room with a massive stone fireplace, overlooking the whole woods. To the right is a spacious dining room overlooking the deck with enclosed wet bar and easy access to the unique eat-in kitchen with long breakfast countertop, pantry, and lots of storage cabinets. To the left a study with double built-in desks and bookshelves, a powder room, and master bedroom with mirrored closets and master bath. Downstairs is a full spacious family room with fireplace and sliding glass doors to a patio in the woods, plus three more bedrooms with full bath and laundry. A very versatile home with good separation of functions, privacy, uniqueness, and a taste of what all Princeton loves, the woods.
New Price $529,000

PRINCETON — THIS LOVELY THREE-BEDROOM RANCH in a wooded setting overlooking a stream in the Riverside neighborhood features a living room with a fireplace, dining room, family room, kitchen, master bedroom and bath with two more bedrooms and bath. PROTECT OUR PLANET: It's the only one we have. Take time to look at the world around you. In some places it's still beautiful and unspoiled, but in all too many areas our civilization has taken its toll. In ever increasing amounts we are polluting our air and water, turning land into a gigantic trash dump and eradicating plant and animal life. With our population growth and diminishing wilderness, it benefits us to keep the reactions to a minimum. God gave us the earth and its natural resources to use, not destroy. Give thanks and resolve to do what you can to preserve the earth and its creatures.

New Construction Can't Buy These Locations...
Henderson, of Course!

Four EXCEPTIONAL resales in areas that are absolutely SUPERIOR. Although new construction offers "state of the art" kitchens and baths, it is not possible to duplicate LOCATION. Purchase an older house, customize it to your needs. You will have the best of all possible worlds — the SUPERIOR LOCATION and the added personal touches. Please call Peggy Hughes, 921-9300, for details and appointments.
